Apollo On 11-Day Flight

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A space veteran and two rookies rode the world's largest manned spacecraft into orbit today on a 11-day adventure that could place America firmly on the path to the moon.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and civilian astronaut Walter Cunningham, dressed for the moon in the new bubble-topped lunar suits, hurtled into orbit aboard the 69,000-pound Apollo 7. If the flight goes well, it ends after 11 days and 4½ million miles of flight through space.

Thousands of people lined Atlantic beaches as the Saturn 1B rocket, the most powerful booster ever used for a U.S. manned flight, slugged the spacecraft into orbit, riding a tail of fire the length of a football field.

The eight first stage engines, generating 1.6 million pounds of thrust—more power than 100 jet fighter planes—ignited at 11:03 a.m. EDT, roared into the crystal blue sky and curved downrange.

Schirra said shortly after ignition that the ride "was a little bumpy", but six minutes later he said it was "riding like a dream."

Eisele reported the guidance and navigation system was "go."

Mission Control Center said the mighty booster rocket performed flawlessly during its 10 minutes of powered flight, accelerating the spacecraft to 17,500 miles an hour and drilling it into orbit.

Success of the Apollo 7 flight may open the door for another Apollo crew to orbit the moon in December, a vital step toward landing men on the moon next year.

The spacecraft was to remain mated to the booster second stage, called the S4B, for about three hours, just as it will be on a moon flight.

After two orbits, the Apollo Command and Service module, which holds the crew, will inch forward and separate from the S4B.

The crew then flies in formation with the spent booster for a time before moving 83 miles out in front to get into position for a rendezvous late Saturday.

While attached to the S4B, the spacecraft is 113 feet, 3 inches long and weighs 69,034 pounds.

At separation from the S4B, the 16,000-pound Apollo Command and Service Module will still be larger by two tons than any flown by the Russians and 12 tons larger than the two-man Gemini spacecraft.

Among those watching the spectacular liftoff of America's first manned flight in nearly two years was Cunningham's wife, Lo Ella. She and their two children, Brian, 8, and Kimberly, 5, watched from a boat floating on a river near Cape Kennedy.

The families of Schirra and Eisele watched on television at their homes near the Manned Spacecraft in Houston, Tex.

The countdown to launch of the marathon flight was near flawless. A brief hold was called at 6:15 to permit proper chill down of the second stage rocket engines, but the problem was quickly corrected.

Schirra, 45, the oldest man to fly into space and the first ticketed for a third trip; Eisele and Cunningham essentially completed their training several days ago and have been relaxing for the most part as launch teams prepared their rocket and spacecraft for America's first man-in-space flight in 23 months.

Their job will be to circle the earth 163 times in 10 days, 20 hours, and 9 minutes to check out the complex systems in the Apollo craft. It has nearly two million functioning parts—compared to about 2,000 for an automobile.

"One of the prime requisites of this flight," Cunningham said, "is to come back with the feeling that all of the spacecraft systems are capable of supporting a flight duration that would take you to the moon and back."

Project officials admit the flight may not go the full route because of the complexity of the equipment.

"Our most important learning for this flight is to determine how the spacecraft lasts," said Glynn Lunney, the flight director. "We can gain just about every systems objective in the first three or four days if an equipment problem requires the mission to be terminated early."

During the flight, the astronauts are to keep watch over such key systems as guidance and navigation, electrical, communications, environmental control, maneuvering engines and the main spacecraft engines.

"In the early stages, I'll keep my eye on the life support system, because it keeps us alive, and the fuel cell electrical system because it keeps the spacecraft alive," said Cunningham, who is the crew systems expert.

Most Of 300 Reds Escape GIs' Trap

26 Of Foe Killed; 6 Americans Die And 16 Wounded

SAIGON (AP) — American infantrymen blocking the northwesterly invasion corridors to Saigon tried to trap some 300 enemy troops today, but the bulk of them apparently slipped away.

A heavy bombardment on their positions by jet fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery killed 26 of the enemy force before they got away.

U.S. casualties were put at six men killed and 16 wounded.

The fighting swirled through rice paddies and thick hedgerows 27 miles southwest of Saigon, a mile from where American ground and air forces killed 147 North Vietnamese soldiers Monday and Tuesday.

It is a familiar battleground, long dominated by the veteran North Vietnamese 101st Regiment and the Viet Cong Cu Chi Regiment.

The fighting broke out Thursday morning when about 400 infantrymen drew heavy fire from troops dug in along the hedgerows surrounding a hamlet near the district town of Trang Bang.

Then 600 reinforcements rushed in and the Americans attempted to put a cordon around the enemy force, estimated to be a battalion.

Fighting continued until nightfall, but the bulk of the enemy force apparently slipped out under the cover of darkness this morning.

Ohioan Tells Of Flight From North Vietnamese

BAN ME THUOT, Vietnam (AP) — A U.S. Army sergeant missing for 15 days made his way back to allied lines and told of escaping from North Vietnamese in a 10-day flight through Cambodia and South Vietnam's central highlands, military sources reported today.

They said Sgt. Buddy Wright, of Wellston, Ohio, stumbled into a South Vietnamese army camp last Sunday pointing to his stomach and saying, "Chop chop, chop chop," which means food to the Vietnamese.

The sources said Wright gave this account of his capture and escape:

He became separated from his platoon Sept. 22 and North Vietnamese seized him southwest of the Duc Lap Special Forces camp near the Cambodian border, 125 miles north of Saigon.

He said the North Vietnamese troops marched him west for two days so he thought he was in Cambodia. They did not mistreat him, but took his wallet, identity tag and boots to prevent him from escaping.

North Vietnamese interrogators asked him he name of his unit, which is the 1st Battalion, 22nd Infantry, 4th Division. But Wright told him he did not know.

The interrogators asked him what kind of a noncommissioned officer didn't even know his unit.

He said he was a very stupid NCO.

The North Vietnamese had an AK47 assault rifle pointed at him during the interrogation. At night, a guard came by every 30 minutes and pointed a light at him.

During his fifth night of captivity, Wright escaped. He ran all night and all the next day. The North Vietnamese chased him.

"When I saw the North Vietnamese my first thought was, 'I am dead,'" Wright later told other American soldiers. "When they didn't kill me, my will to survive came pretty strong and I decided I will try hard to escape. When I first escaped, I felt I could make it.

"I thought I was directly west of Duc Lap and had to run east. After two days I became weak and I was not quite sure where was. I thought I was losing my way and I was scared."

On the second day of his escape, he could see North Vietnamese troops still looking for him. He hid eight hours then struck out again when a heavy rain began to fall.

On the night of Oct. 5, he saw a fire and figured it was in a South Vietnamese camp. He was not sure, so he decided to wait until daybreak.

At first light, he saw a soldier with an M16 rifle, the standard allied weapon. Wright walked toward him.

The soldier carried Wright to a hill the South Vietnamese troops were occupying. American advisers called a helicopter which took Wright to Duc Lap, then to the 2nd Brigade of the 4th Infantry Division at Ban Me Thuot.

Capt. Daniel H. Trachtenberg of Philadelphia, Pa., a physician who examined Wright at Ban Me Thuot, said, "Sgt. Wright was in amazing good condition for what he had been through."

Wright lost several pounds and had lacerations of his feet, legs and arms which were slightly infected. His feet also were swollen.

During his flight to freedom, Wright survived on nuts and wild berries. While a prisoner, the North Vietnamese fed him rice.

Bans Mail Order Sales Of Weapons

Lacks Provisions For Registration And Of Licensing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strongest gun control bill ever to pass Congress is awaiting the signature of President Johnson who had sought an even tougher measure.

The bill before the President, compromise product of a House-Senate conference committee, bans the mail order sale of rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Although it lacks provisions for registration of owners and licensing of firearms which Johnson pleaded for, he is expected to sign it. It is not certain when.

Congressional action on the bill that was given life by the deaths of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was completed Thursday by the House.

Besides making it illegal to buy through the mail outside the state in which you live, the bill bans sales of firearms or ammunition to juveniles, fugitives, mental incompetents, drug addicts or persons under criminal indictment.

It forbids over-the-counter sales of pistols to anyone under 21 and rifles and shotguns to those under 18. Similar age limits would apply to the sale of ammunition.

There was little real opposition to the compromise although the relatively narrow margin for passage—160 to 120—reflected a last-ditch effort by opponents to sidetrack the bill until next year.

Some members objected to two provisions in the compromise that changed the measure from the way it originally passed the House.

Most Troops To Leave, Soviet Promises Czechs

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union has promised Czechoslovak officials that all but 10 per cent of the Warsaw Pact occupation forces will leave their country before its 50th anniversary of independence Oct. 28, diplomatic sources say.

The informants said Soviet officials made the promise in Moscow Thursday during negotiations on a treaty for temporary stationing of forces in Czechoslovakia. Czechoslovak Community party leaders have promised to sign such a treaty, legalizing the occupation that began Aug. 20.

By some current estimates, the withdrawal over the next two weeks would leave 50,000 or fewer troops—all Soviet except for command detachements from Poland, East Germany, Hungary and Bulgaria, the sources said.

At Moscow's insistence, the Prague government has abandoned press freedom and other key features of the liberalization program it began in January. Prague radio said Thursday there is evidence that the Soviet Union is satisfied with Prague's latest commitments for a swing back to orthodox communism.

But there was evidence of public dissatisfaction in Czechoslovakia with the concessions made to the Kremlin. In a resolution addressed to Communist party leaders, 1,549 employe of the Prague Radio Communications Research Institute declared: "We reject categorically any legalization of the stay of foreign armies on our territory. Do not permit it at any price." The resolution urged the leaders to stick to their reform policies despite Soviet pressure.

Jiri Pelikan, ousted chief of Czechoslovakia's television system, made a farewell appearance on TV Thursday night and replied emotionally to Soviet charges that Czechoslovak television had been run by anti-Communists.

"I want to defend my honor as a Communist and citizen of this country if for no other reason than because I have bound my whole life to the ideas of socialism," Pelikan said.

Pelikan, credited with organizing underground radio and TV broadcasts during the first week of the occupation, was fired by the government, apparently under Soviet pressure.

Living Bank For The Dead

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Living Bank is a clearing house for persons who wish to donate their bodies or organs to be used after death opened Thursday.

Presently it is housed in a 43-foot trailer on a parking lot. At the bank, which ultimately hopes to have a home in a permanent building, persons can sign billfold-size cards indicating what they wish to donate.

The bank is for information and record and not for storing of organs.

Revenue Finally Reflects Boost In Income Tax Rate

The boost in the city's income tax rate that went into effect April 1 finally has started to be reflected in a substantial gain in receipts.

Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson issued a report today for Council showing receipts of $306,707.12 for the first nine months of 1968, an increase of $41,983 from the $264,724.12 shown in the first three quarters of 1967.

Wilkinson said in response to a question that the added revenue reflects the boost voted by Council last spring. The rate was hiked to a full 1 per cent from the former rate of eight-tenths of 1 per cent.

At the time the rate boost was being discussed, Wilkinson estimated it would bring the city $80,000 to $82,000 more annually. He stuck to the estimate today as he issued the third-quarter report. He said he estimates "conservatively" that the tax receipts for 1968 will be $80,000 ahead of 1967.

An $80,000 gain means the tax should yield $416,901 in 1968, as the overall revenue in 1967 was $336,901.

The tax yielded $205,386 in the first six months of 1968, jumping $18,686 from the first half of 1967.

But the additional revenue does not include any "new" money in the sense it has not been allocated. All the funds represented by the higher tax rate were earmarked early in the year to meet higher expenses — particularly pay increases for city employes.

Wilkinson pointed out the higher rate applies to only nine months of 1968, but in 1969 the city will collect the 1 per cent rate for all 12 months. The former rate meant a charge of 80 cents on each $100 of earnings or other income. The boost sent the tax to $1 on each $100.

Wilkinson's report included a breakdown on revenue from various sources. It showed the city received $163,119.75 in the first three quarters of 1968 from taxes withheld from payrolls by employers and then remitted to the city. The withholding produced $144,254.56 at the same time in 1967.

Taxes collected from business places and manufacturers totaled $41,905.98 in the first

Students Seize Two University Buildings

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 100 students at New York University, protesting the dismissal of a Negro educator who called Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon "racist bastards," seized two campus buildings today.

Dr. Lewis Hyde, provost of the 42,000-student school, summoned New York City police to the edge of the Bronx campus and announced: "I intend to take whatever steps necessary to see that the buildings are available to students today."

Beter Enters W. Va. Race As Write-In

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — peter D. Beter, first a Democrat, then a Republican and finally an "independent Republican for Wallace," is a write-in candidate for governor of West Virginia.

Beter made the announcement Thursday at a news conference in Charleston, declaring, "I will not lose this election."

The former Huntington attorney pledged to put a one-year morotorium on spending and taxes if elected.

He also renewed an earlier pledge to throw out Volunteers in Service to America workers and other anti-poverty programs in the state.

Beter had annnounced his intention to run for governor last year as a Democrat, switched to the Republican ticket, but finished third in the May primary to Rep. Arch A. Moore Jr. and former Gov. Cecil Underwood.

First Championship In 23 Years

Tigers' Triumph Sparks Wild Detroit Celebration

DETROIT (AP) — Thousands of total strangers danced, hugged, kissed and ran screaming through the streets.

Teen-agers swam in downtown Detroit's Kennedy Square fountain. Two youths, one black and one white, rose dripping wet and hugged and danced until they lost their footing and fell back into the water.

"Higher, higher, higher," chanted the downtown crowd, "go, go, go," as youth after youth attempted to shinny one of the two 100-foot flagpoles to place a Tigers banner alongside the Star and Stripes. The crowd roared when one finally made it to the top.

"We've been saving that paper for 23 years," a grizzled man joked as he waved to the blizzard of computer cards, tickertape, toilet paper, which fell knee-deep in some places.

"This town hasn't seen a celebration like this since the end of World War II," an oldtimer observed. "I guess you'd have to go back to VJ day," another agreed.

The Tigers brought the first world championship in 23 years to Detroit Thursday when they whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 in the final game of the World Series.

"This is no funeral, that's for sure," declared Nicholas Daphne of San Francisco, who said he was the president of the National Funeral Directors Association, which has been holding a week-long convention in Detroit.

Detroit Metropolitan Airport had to be closed for flights because more than 30,000 fans surged onto the runways in hopes of seeing their arriving heroes. But the Tigers landed at nearby Willow Run airport and then went to Tiger Stadium.

Crowds of people—about 800 in one line—snaked-danced down Woodward Avenue, the city's main street.

Youngsters clambered aboard a hook-and-ladder truck returning from a false alarm, and the fire truck changed course and snaked through the downtown streets.

The honking horns, sirens and firecrackers were heard far into the morning's early hours, and all three shifts of police were called out on a just-in-case basis.

Enjoyable Weekend Shapes Up For Area

A pleasant weekend is in prospect for the tri-state area, barring an unexpected break in the weather.

The forecast calls for mostly sunny and mild today, with the high in the 60s, and fair and a little warmer tonight.

Saturday will be fair and warmer.

Temperatures will average near normal through Wednesday, with highs mostly in the 60s and lows generally in the 40s.

Chester Area Waterless As Main Breaks

An intersection at 1st St. and Pennsylvania Ave., Chester, was blocked off today as a crew began repairs on a four-inch water main which broke about 6:20 a. m.

Supt. Len Cowey of the Water and Sewage Departments said homes on Montana Ave. and Fairview St. were without water and other houses in the area also suffered from lack of pressure.

Cowey said the crew is attempting to clamp the break, described as an eighth of an inch crack, and if successful water should be restored shortly.

City Hall To Be Closed Saturday For Holiday

City Hall offices will be closed Saturday for the Columbus Day observance, Mayor George E. Willshaw said today.

The building usually is open until noon on Saturday. Parking meter fees will not be required tomorrow, the mayor reminded motorists. Columbus Day is one of the "meter holidays" specified in city ordinances.

The County Election Board's office on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall, will be open until noon tomorrow, as usual, Miss Rebecca Resnick, director, said. The board's staff is busy with preparations for the Nov. 5 general election, including a host of applications for absentee ballots.

Report Due In January On New Span

An engineering study on the feasibility, financing and location of a proposed new bridge to replace the Chester Bridge may be completed about Jan. 1, West Virginia Road Commission officials said today.

M. F. Brenan, director of the advanced planning division for the Road Commission, said, "An engineering firm has been inspecting possible sites, and at present we are definitely close to a location, but have several alternates in mind."

The Ohio Department of Highways has ordered a 45 - foot minimum space between vehicles on the bridge following a recommendation from Modjeski & Masters, another firm,

Living Bank For The Dead

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The Living Bank is a clearing house for persons who wish to donate their bodies or organs to be used after death opened Thursday.

Presently it is housed in a 43-foot trailer on a parking lot. At the bank, which ultimately hopes to have a home in a permanent building, persons can sign billfold-size cards indicating what they wish to donate.

The bank is for information and record and not for storing of organs.

Revenue Finally Reflects Boost In Income Tax Rate

The boost in the city's income tax rate that went into effect April 1 finally has started to be reflected in a substantial gain in receipts.

Tax Commissioner D. G. Wilkinson issued a report today for Council showing receipts of $306,707.12 for the first nine months of 1968, an increase of $41,983 from the $264,724.12 shown in the first three quarters of 1967.

Wilkinson said in response to a question that the added revenue reflects the boost voted by Council last spring. The rate was hiked to a full 1 per cent from the former rate of eight-tenths of 1 per cent.

At the time the rate boost was being discussed, Wilkinson estimated it would bring the city $80,000 to $82,000 more annually. He stuck to the estimate today as he issued the third-quarter report. He said he estimates "conservatively" that the tax receipts for 1968 will be $80,000 ahead of 1967.

An $80,000 gain means the tax should yield $416,901 in 1968, as the overall revenue in 1967 was $336,901.

The tax yielded $205,386 in the first six months of 1968, jumping $18,686 from the first half of 1967.

But the additional revenue does not include any "new" money in the sense it has not been allocated. All the funds represented by the higher tax rate were earmarked early in the year to meet higher expenses — particularly pay increases for city employes.

Wilkinson pointed out the higher rate applies to only nine months of 1968, but in 1969 the city will collect the 1 per cent rate for all 12 months. The former rate meant a charge of 80 cents on each $100 of earnings or other income. The boost sent the tax to $1 on each $100.

Wilkinson's report included a breakdown on revenue from various sources. It showed the city received $163,119.75 in the first three quarters of 1968 from taxes withheld from payrolls by employers and then remitted to the city. The withholding produced $144,254.56 at the same time in 1967.

Taxes collected from business places and manufacturers totaled $41,905.98 in the first

Students Seize Two University Buildings

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly 100 students at New York University, protesting the dismissal of a Negro educator who called Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon "racist bastards," seized two campus buildings today.

Dr. Lewis Hyde, provost of the 42,000-student school, summoned New York City police to the edge of the Bronx campus and announced: "I intend to take whatever steps necessary to see that the buildings are available to students today."

Tigers' Triumph Sparks Wild Detroit Celebration

DETROIT (AP) — Thousands of total strangers danced, hugged, kissed and ran screaming through the streets.

Teen-agers swam in downtown Detroit's Kennedy Square fountain. Two youths, one black and one white, rose dripping wet and hugged and danced until they lost their footing and fell back into the water.

"Higher, higher, higher," chanted the downtown crowd, "go, go, go," as youth after youth attempted to shinny one of the two 100-foot flagpoles to place a Tigers banner alongside the Star and Stripes. The crowd roared when one finally made it to the top.

"We've been saving that paper for 23 years," a grizzled man joked as he waved to the blizzard of computer cards, tickertape, toilet paper, which fell knee-deep in some places.

"This town hasn't seen a celebration like this since the end of World War II," an oldtimer observed. "I guess you'd have to go back to VJ day," another agreed.

The Tigers brought the first world championship in 23 years to Detroit Thursday when they whipped the St. Louis Cardinals 4-1 in the final game of the World Series.

"This is no funeral, that's for sure," declared Nicholas Daphne of San Francisco, who said he was the president of the National Funeral Directors Association, which has been holding a week-long convention in Detroit.

Detroit Metropolitan Airport had to be closed for flights because more than 30,000 fans surged onto the runways in hopes of seeing their arriving heroes. But the Tigers landed at nearby Willow Run airport and then went to Tiger Stadium.

Crowds of people—about 800 in one line—snaked-danced down Woodward Avenue, the city's main street.

Youngsters clambered aboard a hook-and-ladder truck returning from a false alarm, and the fire truck changed course and snaked through the downtown streets.

The honking horns, sirens and firecrackers were heard far into the morning's early hours, and all three shifts of police were called out on a just-in-case basis.

Enjoyable Weekend Shapes Up For Area

A pleasant weekend is in prospect for the tri-state area, barring an unexpected break in the weather.

The forecast calls for mostly sunny and mild today, with the high in the 60s, and fair and a little warmer tonight.

Saturday will be fair and warmer.

Temperatures will average near normal through Wednesday, with highs mostly in the 60s and lows generally in the 40s.

Chester Area Waterless As Main Breaks

An intersection at 1st St. and Pennsylvania Ave., Chester, was blocked off today as a crew began repairs on a four-inch water main which broke about 6:20 a. m.

Supt. Len Cowey of the Water and Sewage Departments said homes on Montana Ave. and Fairview St. were without water and other houses in the area also suffered from lack of pressure.

Cowey said the crew is attempting to clamp the break, described as an eighth of an inch crack, and if successful water should be restored shortly.

City Hall To Be Closed Saturday For Holiday

City Hall offices will be closed Saturday for the Columbus Day observance, Mayor George E. Willshaw said today.

The building usually is open until noon on Saturday. Parking meter fees will not be required tomorrow, the mayor reminded motorists. Columbus Day is one of the "meter holidays" specified in city ordinances.

The County Election Board's office on W. 6th St., opposite City Hall, will be open until noon tomorrow, as usual, Miss Rebecca Resnick, director, said. The board's staff is busy with preparations for the Nov. 5 general election, including a host of applications for absentee ballots.

Report Due In January On New Span

An engineering study on the feasibility, financing and location of a proposed new bridge to replace the Chester Bridge may be completed about Jan. 1, West Virginia Road Commission officials said today.

M. F. Brenan, director of the advanced planning division for the Road Commission, said, "An engineering firm has been inspecting possible sites, and at present we are definitely close to a location, but have several alternates in mind."

The Ohio Department of Highways has ordered a 45 - foot minimum space between vehicles on the bridge following a recommendation from Modjeski & Masters, another firm,

Wheatley Tribute Dinner To Draw Capacity Crowd

A capacity crowd is expected at a dinner Tuesday night at 7 at the Hilton Hotel in Pittsburgh at which E. L. Wheatley, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, and his union will be honored by the State of Israel for "their long and continued support of the Jewish state."

Wheatley will receive the Israel Achievement Award and the Eleanor Roosevelt Humanities Award. Both will be presented by George Flesch, a former member of the Israel Knesset (parliament). The testimonial dinner is sponsored by the State of Israel on behalf of Israel Bonds.

George Barbaree, secretary-treasurer of the IBOP, is general chairman of the dinner arrangements. Dr. Alexander S. Fisher is chairman of the Tri-State Israel Bond Organization.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th Ohio District congressman, will be the principal speaker.

Wheatley entered the potters' trade in East Liverpool as a kilnman. He joined Local Union 9 and later served several terms as its president.

He has been an international officer of the union since 1933, when he was elected first vice president Wheatley became president on March 8, 1956, succeeding Frank Hull of East Liverpool, who retired on his doctor's advice. His presidency was confirmed in a special election the following June 1 and he has been returned at every election since.

In beginning his present four - year term, Wheatley announced he would not seek the office again. He is slated to retire in 1969.

A few years ago, the IBOP executive board set up a scholarship fund to aid children of the union's members. It is named in his honor — the Edwin L. Wheatley Scholarship Fund.

Post Office Trains Guns On Pornography Dealers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office has abandoned censorship as a weapon in the war against smut and is training its guns only on dealers who mail pornography to people who complain.

Main goal of this new strategy, says Chief Postal Inspector Harry B. Montague, is to keep advertisements for smut out of the hands of children and young people.

Montague indicates the heat is off consenting individuals who use the mails to exchange obscene photographs and reading matter.

Montague said in an interview that since 1957, the courts and the Justice Department have hindered the Post Office in its fight against pornography, and battle lines had to be redrawn.

Montague, chief inspector since 1961, now largely relies on individual protests from the public.

He and the 1,080 "Post Office policemen" across the nation have been helped by a six-month old federal antipandering law.

Acting under this statute, the Post Office has received since April nearly 75,000 complaints about material which recipients said they'd received through the mails and which was "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

The new law makes it possible for individuals to demand that pornography peddlers be ordered to remove their name from any mailing list the peddler owns or controls.

Violations are referred to the Justice Department which can apply to federal courts to force compliance with the law.

Pornography dealers, on the other hand, aren't completely displeased with the measure. It has a reverse effect—weeding out from their mailing lists those who object to pornography and leaving on them the names of persons who may have an interest in ordering from dealer catalogues.

U.S. Steel Asks Special Tax On Steel Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Steel Corp. is seeking a special tax on steel imports from nations belonging to the European Common Market.

A spokesman for the company said Thursday Common Market exporters have an unfair advantage over U.S. producers because of European government subsidies. He said the company is asking for an investigation by the Treasury Department.

A Customs Bureau spokesman said six complaints have been received, one aimed at each of the Common Market members —Germany, France, Italy, Luxembourg, Belgium and Holland.

The steel company spokesman said some of the complaints were about rebates of value-added taxes. It is a common practice in Europe to levy these taxes at each stage of production on the basis of value added by the production step just complete.

He said other European practices that hurt sales of U.S. products include vast depreciation write - offs for exporters, subsidized interest rates on long term borrowing and rebates on producer's factory-to-port transportation costs.

Club Hears Talk By Commissioner

Guarding the goodwill of America was termed a citizen's obligation by Charles Gause, Columbiana County commissioner, at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club Thursday at the Travelers Hotel.

Gause said the tendency to criticize local, state and national governments should be tempered with an understanding of the accomplishments they achieve.

Parents in particular should give their children a good example by not downgrading representative government. Constructive criticism is important, he said, but not criticism just for its own sake.

Gause was introduced by John McDonald. Ronald Mason, president, was in charge.

Members received tickets for sale to the club's semi - annual public pancake dinner Nov. 9 at Westgate School from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

A Man For The Presidency

The candidates for the U. S. presidency have outlined in typical campaign generalities their attitudes toward the problems and required decisions facing the next chief executive.

In Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and across the rest of the nation there is a reflection of the campaign's lack of focus in the opinions of men and women preparing to make their ballot decisions for Nov. 5.

The issues of the Vietnam war, law and order, inflation, equal opportunities and poverty programs are debated, but the over-riding theme — even in the speeches of Democratic candidate Hubert Humphrey — is the need for a new analysis, a new leadership, a new effort to solve old problems.

Despite the continued prosperity of the mid-1960's — a factor which throughout American history has signaled a victory for the party in power — there is a fundamental dissatisfaction with the way things are. This ranges from the young upset over the alleged power of the "establishment", Negroes disturbed by the slow acceptance of equality, the whole nation concerned about a war costly in lives and money which seems to hold little promise of an honorable conclusion, worried about the surging increase in crime and violence.

George Wallace's easy answers to complex affairs cannot be accepted by those who comprehend the scope of our troubles and who believe they can be solved, for the most part, in a manner befitting a democracy. Mr. Wallace has shown little grasp of the Vietnam situation, and has a poor record of defiance of law by himself and in his native state.

Mr. Humphrey, part and parcel of the present administration, cannot shake off the shadow of Lyndon B. Johnson, cannot heal the deep party wounds inflicted by the appealing campaigns of Sen. Eugene McCarthy and the late Sen. Robert Kennedy.

Mr. Humphrey has been at times in the past an energetic standard bearer for some progressive programs, but apparently now lacks the spark of individual and positive leadership behind which the nation can be united in confidence.

Richard Nixon, with experience as a Congressman, as vice president and as a statesman who has made a continuing study of domestic and foreign affairs, has regained nationwide confidence as one in whose hands the reins of executive power can be trusted.

He is his own man, not subject to the pressures of a divided party, not caught up in the emotions of a negative stand against what is, but willing to reach for new ideas, changed directions to the future.

It is time for a re-appraisal of America's relationships with its own citizens and with the world, and Richard Nixon is the most likely leader for this crucial period ahead.

The Russian Chess Players

The Russian chess players continue to play the game for all it is worth—diplomatically.

In the aftermath of their invasion of Czechoslovakia, which abruptly broke off the hesitant dialogue between Bonn and Moscow, the Soviet Union's leaders permitted their foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, to hold a 90-minute conversation Tuesday with his West German counterpart, Willy Brandt.

IT WAS THE FIRST formal conference between foreign ministers of the two nations in six years and it gave rise to speculation that some degree of cooperation might be possible despite the hostilities caused by the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

But meanwhile the Kremlin bosses were being very hostile in issuing a new warning, considered the strongest Communist threat yet, that the Warsaw Pact countries "will not put up with" West German activities in West Berlin.

Actually the warning came from an East German official but this is the routine routing of Moscow statements pertaining to West Germany.

Specifically, the warning was directed at the party congress planned for West Berlin by West German Chancellor Kurt Kiessinger's Christian Democratic Union early next month. The warning described the conference as "a dangerous climax in a series of provocations."

CONSEQUENTLY, WEST BERLIN and West German authorities, along with those of the three Western powers that exercise sovereignty in the outpost city, the United States, Britain and France, anticipate the Communists will use the event to stage harassments in the access routes or trouble in the vital air links between Berlin and the West.

The chess game goes on, meanwhile, as the Kremlin tries to fool and confuse by stirring up tension in West Berlin while raising hopes for cooperation at the meeting of foreign ministers.

New Use For A Pipeline

An ingenious experiment will be initiated this month involving use of an eastern Ohio pipeline to dispose of solid wastes.

The mothballed pipeline, which formerly transported coal slurry from Hanna Coal Co. strip mines near Cadiz and Georgetown in Harrison County through Carroll and Stark counties to the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.'s plant at Eastlake, is being reactivated.

BUT THIS TIME the pipeline flow will be in the reverse direction and its "cargo" will be solid waste sludge instead of coal slurry.

The federal government is sponsoring the experiment in an effort to assist the city of Cleveland solve its solid wastes disposal problem. But the twofold program anticipates a benefit to Harrison County through speeded reclamation of its thousands of acres of barren strip-mined lands.

Use of the $10-million pipeline was discontinued in 1963 when the cost of rail transportation declined. The coal company now has offered the pipeline for the test without cost.

The mixture of 95 per cent water and 5 per cent solids will include sludge from a sewage plant, dredge material from Cleveland harbor and fly ash from power plants. The sludge will be digested at Cleveland to remove odors before it is put into the pipe-line.

WHEN IT REACHES Harrison County the sludge will be placed in the strip mines and on barren areas where its nutrient value will be an aid in reclaiming the land. The sludge, according to a federal agency, will provide a fertile basis for grassy-type growth widely used in land reclamation.

If the experiment proves successful and economical, it may well give the state's largest city more time in which to develop a vastly improved, permanent-type system for the disposal of wastes.

Certainly it should cut down on the pollution of Lake Erie in the meantime.

WASHINGTON — The 1969 automobiles have just come out and here is a preview of some of the latest models.

THE HUMPHREY HUMBER: This model has been on the market for a long time but, because it has been overshadowed by the Johnson Warhawk which was built by the same factory, nobody knows what it can do on its own. Critics say it's the same old model and offers the buyers nothing new. But the Humphrey Humber people say while it doesn't look different, customers can expect an entirely different performance. Sales have been very slow and the company is afraid it may have another Edsel on its hands.

THE NIXON MARK VII: It was thought at one time that the Nixon could be retired because of the disastrous years when it went into a complete sales decline. But the Nixon has made a comeback with new engineering and a very successful advertising campaign.

The Mark VII has a much quieter engine, uses less gas and appeals to the middle-class family market by claiming it is much safer than the other '69 models, and a better buy for the money. Automobile surveys indicate that customers are showing a preference for the Nixon, although many have complained the 1969 selection of cars doesn't give them much of a choice.

THE WALLACE WILDCAT: This little sports car, built in Alabama only a few years ago, was a laughing stock car. But people aren't laughing any more.

It is not only selling in the South but in the North as well. It comes in only one color—white. It advertises itself to people who are tired of being pushed around on the city streets and highways by other cars.

The manufacturer discovered that many people have a killer instinct when it comes to picking an automobile. And it has exploited this instinct by promising customers that the Wildcat will knock down anything that gets in its way.

Anyone who buys this car gets a free bumper sticker which says, "Support Your Local Police."

THE MUSKIE: This is the sleeper model of the year. It has great popularity amongst the younger people and in many places it's outselling the Humphrey Humber, mainly because it isn't stuck with all the accessories that the Humber has. Unfortunately, it is on display in the same showroom with the Humber and does not have a strong enough chassis to support both.

THE AGNEW ACK-ACK: When it first came out on the market it wasn't a household name; but it has been getting a great deal of publicity, and for an unknown quantity, not all of it good. As a matter of fact, every time the manufacturer thinks it has all the bugs worked out, it has to recall the model and make further adjustments. One of the problems is that every time the Agnew goes forward, it has to back up. This is giving the dealers fits.

THE LeMAY NUKE III: This model came out late. The manufacturers, who used to make bombers, decided to try its hand at cars, and while the Nuke has just appeared on the market as a sister to the Wallace Wildcat, it is considered by safety experts as the most dangerous car on the road. Although it looks innocent enough, those who have tested it say that as soon as you put your foot on the accelerator, the whole car explodes.

VICTOR RIESEL

Labor Chiefs Plan Future

WASHINGTON — There are analytical amateurs in this field who predict that this election is labor's last hurrah.

Hardly. There will always be a Santa Claus. While publicly pouring out millions for Hubert Humphrey, labor leaders privately prepare to do business with Richard Nixon.

Victor Riesel

This is no love-hate syndrome. They reckon labor can't afford to lose the White House absolutely — and no President can afford to lose labor, absolutely.

And so, a gossamer liaison has been woven between some influential members of the national unions' high command and Dick Nixon's inner circle, most of whom are "anonymous."

This is exactly what was strung together during the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign is 1952. Labor fought to elect Adlai Stevenson, but kept in contact with the general.

It paid off. A few weeks after Dwight Eisenhower trounced the Illinois govrnor, Ike invit ed the then AFL Secretary-Treasurer, George Meany, to visit him in New York.

On Nov. 21, the two leaders met in a Hotel Commodore suite, shook hands warmly and discussed living together. The president-elect wanted to talk with "George" about the Cabinet — especially the new Secretary of Labor. General Eisenhower suggested three names. One was immediately vetoed. The second was the late Dick Gray, then President of the AFL Building and Construction Trades Dept. Ike said he seemed to be too old. Meany retorted quietly that Gray was two years younger than the president-elect. They chuckled.

THEN IKE GRINNED and offered Martin Durkin, the International President of George Meany's own plumbers and steamfitters union. That did it. Mr. Durkin got the appointment. Later Durkin, who eventually died of a brain ailment, resigned. He was replaced by the late Jim Mitchell, who all of labor agrees was "the best Secretary of Labor we ever had."

So no one in the AFL-CIO national headquarters will faint dead away if Dick Nixon is elected. They did business with Ike and they'll do — or at least they expect to do — the same business with Mr. Nixon. Their skilled and knowledgeable national lobbyist, Andy Biemiller, predicts that, if elected, Mr. Nixon will appoint a Labor Secretary similar to Jim Mitchell — a man considered a friend of the people, meaning them.

There are many such. There is Nelson Rockefeller's advisor, Victor Borella, for whom labor would roll out the barrel, as "Rocky" has for them. There is Jim Mitchell's old under secretary, John Gilhooley, now headisg up the New York Nixon for President campaign.

"We could live with such as they," said one national labor policy maker. "What's more, it's becoming impossible to live with some of Mr. Johnson's cabinet."

He spat. Literally. And not in the direction of Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, an urbane chap whose skin has thickened to withstand wrathful darts and arrows.

IT IS ATTORNEY GENERAL Ramsey Clark whom the labor leaders loathe with a vengeance which will follow him through his career. Early last August, he directed the Justic Dept.'s Criminal Division to order the LBI to investigate the Seafarers' Political Activity Donation (SPAD) committee. It is the political action section of Paul Hall's Seafarers International Union, which has contributed heavily to Mr. Humphrey — but to Republican candidates as well.

What puzzles the labor leaders is Mr. Clark's attack on Paul Hall, who now is the AFL-CIO's man in California — directing labor's campaign there for Mr. Humphrey.

Furthermore, virtually autonomous units of the Labor Dept. have spent several million dollars investigating other unions and labor councils.

The AFL-CIO's Building and Construction Trades Dept. leaders reported recently that the Labor Dept.'s Office of Federal Contract Compliance has spent "hundreds of thousands of dollars" investigating their five-year apprentice training program in pursuit of "affirmative action." This means the government insists that the unions go out and recruit minority workers if none apply.

Thousands of second, third and fourth echelon union officials and office employes have been probed by the Labor Dept.'s independent Bureau of Labor-Management Reports compliance division. Hundreds have been arrested, tried and convicted of misusing anywhere from $200 to $1,000. This was a matter of expense accounts or credit cards. There are those who have stolen much larger sums. But it's the "harassment" of the petty cash crowd which has angered the top union officials.

So they say they're sick of it all. They mutter that "Johnson has no need of us now, so we're getting hit." They say they could do no worse under Dick Nixon and a new Attorney General.

Labor chiefs expect Dick Nixon will do what Ike did if the Republicans win — and that won't make many unhappy in the high command.

Berry's World

Protest Vote Speculation

It seems clear that the Democratic nominee can build up his strength in the remaining weeks of the campaign only by winning back many of the Democrats who have decided either to vote for Wallace or Nixon or else not go to the polls.

While the Democratic party got a massive majority in the presidential race in 1964, it was because a large bloc of Republicans voted for Johnson, and he attracted the independent vote, too. Now, however, all this appears to have crumbled.

MOST OF THE REPUBLICAN vote which went to the Democratic nominee in 1964 has since turned back to Nixon. It may be inferred that the regular Republicans, plus the independents and dissident Democrats, are sufficient in number today to give Nixon a big edge in the popular as well as the electoral vote.

There are, to be sure, plenty of people who have not finally made up their minds and will come to a decision in the next four weeks.

On the surface, it might seem that voters are merely choosing between three personalities—Humphrey, Nixon and Wallace. The speeches made by each are, of course, given wide attention but this could be one of those years in which it doesn't make much difference what the candidates have said. Demand for a change could supersede all else.

Humphrey is a part of the Johnson administration and, therefore, inherits blame for many of the grievances of the voters. The vice president has been urged to disassociate himself from the administration but he cannot do this without alienating a lot of Democrats who are loyal to the party and who would stay home on election day if he engaged in such a course.

The truth is that, no matter who might have been chosen as the Democratic nominee, he would nevertheless be up against the problem of how to retain Democratic voters and at the same time convey the idea that his administration would make a fundamental change in public policies, domestic and international.

The polls thus far have shown Nixon far ahead but it sometimes happens that in the last four weeks of a campaign the candidate who seemingly is losing can gain ground.

This time, however, there is not very much that can be done to change the public opinion that has been generated throughout the country, especially in the big cities of the North, on the subject of civil disorders, racial friction, crime and the ill effects of enforced integration.

In recent days, New York City, for example, has revealed to the country that the racial controversy isn't confined to the South and that militant leaders have not helped to solve the problems of integration by their attacks on "gradualism."

If Nixon is elected president, it is hardly likely that he will have quick answers to all these questions but the people will expect a re-examination of such issues as busing children to schools and the withholding of federal funds from districts which have been trying to "desegregate" without upsetting school systems and losing good teachers.

The most puzzling aspect of the whole campaign today is the effect that the race by Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace is going to have on the election of members of the House and Senate.

Normally, a presidential nominee who wins by a substantial majority carries along candidates for Congress from his own party on what is called the "coattail" vote. Since the Wallace ticket doesn't have a separate list of congressional candidates, the voters will have to pick between the two major parties.

CERTAINLY MANY Democratic nominees for Congress are worried. Some of them are not espounsing to Humphrey cause too enthusiastically and others are trying to curry favor with voters in both parties by omitting references to the presidential nominees.

The outcome will depend largely on the extent of the opposition to the incumbent administration. A Nixon victory by reason of an adverse vote on the Johnson record would mean that the Republicans will make substantial gains and may even get control of both houses of Congress.

This is no love-hate syndrome. They reckon labor can't afford to lose the White House absolutely — and no President can afford to lose labor, absolutely.

And so, a gossamer liaison has been woven between some influential members of the national unions' high command and Dick Nixon's inner circle, most of whom are "anonymous."

This is exactly what was strung together during the Eisenhower-Nixon campaign is 1952. Labor fought to elect Adlai Stevenson, but kept in contact with the general.

It paid off. A few weeks after Dwight Eisenhower trounced the Illinois govrnor, Ike invited the then AFL Secretary-Treasurer, George Meany, to visit him in New York.

On Nov. 21, the two leaders met in a Hotel Commodore suite, shook hands warmly and discussed living together. The president-elect wanted to talk with "George" about the Cabinet — especially the new Secretary of Labor. General Eisenhower suggested three names. One was immediately vetoed. The second was the late Dick Gray, then President of the AFL Building and Construction Trades Dept. Ike said he seemed to be too old. Meany retorted quietly that Gray was two years younger than the president-elect. They chuckled.

THEN IKE GRINNED and offered Martin Durkin, the International President of George Meany's own plumbers and steamfitters union. That did it. Mr. Durkin got the appointment. Later Durkin, who eventually died of a brain ailment, resigned. He was replaced by the late Jim Mitchell, who all of labor agrees was "the best Secretary of Labor we ever had."

So no one in the AFL-CIO national headquarters will faint dead away if Dick Nixon is elected. They did business with Ike and they'll do — or at least they expect to do — the same business with Mr. Nixon. Their skilled and knowledgeable national lobbyist, Andy Biemiller, predicts that, if elected, Mr. Nixon will appoint a Labor Secretary similar to Jim Mitchell — a man considered a friend of the people, meaning them.

There are many such. There is Nelson Rockefeller's advisor, Victor Borella, for whom labor would roll out the barrel, as "Rocky" has for them. There is Jim Mitchell's old under secretary, John Gilhooley, now headisg up the New York Nixon for President campaign.

"We could live with such as they," said one national labor policy maker. "What's more, it's becoming impossible to live with some of Mr. Johnson's cabinet."

He spat. Literally. And not in the direction of Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, an urbane chap whose skin has thickened to withstand wrathful darts and arrows.

IT IS ATTORNEY GENERAL Ramsey Clark whom the labor leaders loathe with a vengeance which will follow him through his career. Early last August, he directed the Justic Dept.'s Criminal Division to order the LBI to investigate the Seafarers' Political Activity Donation (SPAD) committee. It is the political action section of Paul Hall's Seafarers International Union, which has contributed heavily to Mr. Humphrey — but to Republican candidates as well.

What puzzles the labor leaders is Mr. Clark's attack on Paul Hall, who now is the AFL-CIO's man in California — directing labor's campaign there for Mr. Humphrey.

Furthermore, virtually autonomous units of the Labor Dept. have spent several million dollars investigating other unions and labor councils.

The AFL-CIO's Building and Construction Trades Dept. leaders reported recently that the Labor Dept.'s Office of Federal Contract Compliance has spent "hundreds of thousands of dollars" investigating their five-year apprentice training program in pursuit of "affirmative action." This means the government insists that the unions go out and recruit minority workers if none apply.

Thousands of second, third and fourth echelon union officials and office employes have been probed by the Labor Dept.'s independent Bureau of Labor-Management Reports compliance division. Hundreds have been arrested, tried and convicted of misusing anywhere from $200 to $1,000. This was a matter of expense accounts or credit cards. There are those who have stolen much larger sums. But it's the "harassment" of the petty cash crowd which has angered the top union officials.

So they say they're sick of it all. They mutter that "Johnson has no need of us now, so we're getting hit." They say they could do no worse under Dick Nixon and a new Attorney General.

Labor chiefs expect Dick Nixon will do what Ike did if the Republicans win — and that won't make many unhappy in the high command.

Protest Vote Speculation

It seems clear that the Democratic nominee can build up his strength in the remaining weeks of the campaign only by winning back many of the Democrats who have decided either to vote for Wallace or Nixon or else not go to the polls.

While the Democratic party got a massive majority in the presidential race in 1964, it was because a large bloc of Republicans voted for Johnson, and he attracted the independent vote, too. Now, however, all this appears to have crumbled.

MOST OF THE REPUBLICAN vote which went to the Democratic nominee in 1964 has since turned back to Nixon. It may be inferred that the regular Republicans, plus the independents and dissident Democrats, are sufficient in number today to give Nixon a big edge in the popular as well as the electoral vote.

There are, to be sure, plenty of people who have not finally made up their minds and will come to a decision in the next four weeks.

On the surface, it might seem that voters are merely choosing between three personalities—Humphrey, Nixon and Wallace. The speeches made by each are, of course, given wide attention but this could be one of those years in which it doesn't make much difference what the candidates have said. Demand for a change could supersede all else.

Humphrey is a part of the Johnson administration and, therefore, inherits blame for many of the grievances of the voters. The vice president has been urged to disassociate himself from the administration but he cannot do this without alienating a lot of Democrats who are loyal to the party and who would stay home on election day if he engaged in such a course.

The truth is that, no matter who might have been chosen as the Democratic nominee, he would nevertheless be up against the problem of how to retain Democratic voters and at the same time convey the idea that his administration would make a fundamental change in public policies, domestic and international.

The polls thus far have shown Nixon far ahead but it sometimes happens that in the last four weeks of a campaign the candidate who seemingly is losing can gain ground.

This time, however, there is not very much that can be done to change the public opinion that has been generated throughout the country, especially in the big cities of the North, on the subject of civil disorders, racial friction, crime and the ill effects of enforced integration.

In recent days, New York City, for example, has revealed to the country that the racial controversy isn't confined to the South and that militant leaders have not helped to solve the problems of integration by their attacks on "gradualism."

If Nixon is elected president, it is hardly likely that he will have quick answers to all these questions but the people will expect a re-examination of such issues as busing children to schools and the withholding of federal funds from districts which have been trying to "desegregate" without upsetting school systems and losing good teachers.

The most puzzling aspect of the whole campaign today is the effect that the race by Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace is going to have on the election of members of the House and Senate.

Normally, a presidential nominee who wins by a substantial majority carries along candidates for Congress from his own party on what is called the "coattail" vote. Since the Wallace ticket doesn't have a separate list of congressional candidates, the voters will have to pick between the two major parties.

CERTAINLY MANY Democratic nominees for Congress are worried. Some of them are not espounsing to Humphrey cause too enthusiastically and others are trying to curry favor with voters in both parties by omitting references to the presidential nominees.

The outcome will depend largely on the extent of the opposition to the incumbent administration. A Nixon victory by reason of an adverse vote on the Johnson record would mean that the Republicans will make substantial gains and may even get control of both houses of Congress.

HHH Places Guarantee Of Cost On TV Debates

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey said today that he and his running mate, Sen. Edmund G. Muskie, will guarantee the cost of television debates with Richard M. Nixon and Gov. George Wallace.

Humphrey made the proposal a day after Senate Republicans blocked legislation to permit free time for television debates this year—debates Humphrey has counted on to catch up with the front-running Nixon, his Republican opponent for the presidency.

"We have commenced negotiations with one of the networks this morning for an hour of prime time on Sunday night, Oct. 20, with a debate among Mr. Nixon, Gov. Wallace and myself," Humphrey said.

Humphrey expressed hope that Nixon and Wallace would share the debate costs. But if they do not, Humphrey added, "We are prepared to pay the entire cost with the help of those Americans who want to see and hear discussion of the vital issues of the campaign."

Nixon so far has not accepted any Humphrey invitations for debate.

Humphrey proposed that Nixon and Wallace appear with him on two debates, and that Sen. Muskie appear with the opponents' running mates, Gov. Spiro Agnew and retired Gen. Curtis LeMay, in a third debate.

Earlier, Humphrey said he favored an even more active presidency in the years ahead because "there is so much that needs to be done."

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke with unusual passion and vehemence Thursday night in two speeches, one to a fund-raising meeting of apparel industry leaders, the second to the annual dinner of the Queens County Democratic Committee.

In speaking to the clothing manufacturers, Humphrey emphasized the importance of the president as the sole nationally elected leader and asserted his belief that "one man can make a difference."

"I say what is needed," he went on, "it is not less action by the presidency but even more if that is possible, dedicated action, not just action for action's sake, because there is so much that needs to be done."

He referred to such things as "the bigness and complexity of our society," the fact that "a layer of filth" hangs over every major American city and the need for "justice for the black man, the Spanish-speaking American and for the American Indian."

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. — How can I, when driving a nail or screw near the end or edge of a board, prevent the wood from splitting?

A. — By boring small "pilot" holes first before driving your nails or screws.

Q. — What is wrong if a faucet starts to drip again soon after a new washer has been installed?

A. — Chances are that the seat against which the washer presses has become damaged in some way and needs regrinding or replacing. There are special kits and tools for this purpose at hardware or plumbing houses.

Two East Liverpool area men were admitted to City Hospital as the result of injuries received in a truck-car accident on Route 30 Thursday.

Two others, including the driver of the auto, were treated and released. The truck driver was treated at Salem City Hospital.

Richard Wright, 21, of Echo Dell Trailer Court is confined with lacerations of the right arm and hand, abrasions of the left leg, right arm, and chin and a mild concussion. He was reported "fair" this morning.

Richard A. Dunn, 19, of RD 1, the driver of the car was treated for lacerations of the right hand and released.

Gary Sanford, 20, of Meredith St., was treated for lacerations of the scalp and released.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Dunn was driving a 1964 sedan south on Route 30 at 4:15 p. m. Thursday when a pickup truck driven by Myles E. Wilson, 30, of Vickery, in Sandusky County, pulled into the path of his auto. The truck was pulling from the driveway of the Brookside Tavern just north of County Rd. 419.

The auto went off the east side of the road, continuing 60 feet, after the impact.

At 8:30 Thursday morning, Nell Rose Riel, 55, of Shaker Heights, was driving a 1968 sedan on the Y. & O. Rd. when an auto driven by Robert L. Curtis of Campground Rd., Wellsville pulled into the path of her car.

Curtis had halted his 1968 coupe at the stop sign on Annesley Rd. and then pulled into the path of the Riel auto. He was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Another accident occurred at 11:30 a.m. Thursday when Thomas F. Cox, 74, of Lisbon RD 5 stopped his 1962 sedan in a private drive on Route 154 approximately three miles west of Route 7, with the rear of the car still on the highway. Elmer Olson, 62, of Canton, driving a 1966 coupe, was eastbound and his auto struck the rear of the Cox auto. There were no injuries.

Dale A. Bennett, 26, of Salem RD 5, was driving south on the Waterford Rd., approximately a mile west of Route 14, when Francis P. Ross, 18, of 103 Thomas St., East Palestine, drove his 1963 coupe left of center and struck the Bennett vehicle.

HHH Places Guarantee Of Cost On TV Debates

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey said today that he and his running mate, Sen. Edmund G. Muskie, will guarantee the cost of television debates with Richard M. Nixon and Gov. George Wallace.

Humphrey made the proposal a day after Senate Republicans blocked legislation to permit free time for television debates this year—debates Humphrey has counted on to catch up with the front-running Nixon, his Republican opponent for the presidency.

"We have commenced negotiations with one of the networks this morning for an hour of prime time on Sunday night, Oct. 20, with a debate among Mr. Nixon, Gov. Wallace and myself," Humphrey said.

Humphrey expressed hope that Nixon and Wallace would share the debate costs. But if they do not, Humphrey added, "We are prepared to pay the entire cost with the help of those Americans who want to see and hear discussion of the vital issues of the campaign."

Nixon so far has not accepted any Humphrey invitations for debate.

Humphrey proposed that Nixon and Wallace appear with him on two debates, and that Sen. Muskie appear with the opponents' running mates, Gov. Spiro Agnew and retired Gen. Curtis LeMay, in a third debate.

Earlier, Humphrey said he favored an even more active presidency in the years ahead because "there is so much that needs to be done."

The Democratic presidential nominee spoke with unusual passion and vehemence Thursday night in two speeches, one to a fund-raising meeting of apparel industry leaders, the second to the annual dinner of the Queens County Democratic Committee.

In speaking to the clothing manufacturers, Humphrey emphasized the importance of the president as the sole nationally elected leader and asserted his belief that "one man can make a difference."

"I say what is needed," he went on, "it is not less action by the presidency but even more if that is possible, dedicated action, not just action for action's sake, because there is so much that needs to be done."

He referred to such things as "the bigness and complexity of our society," the fact that "a layer of filth" hangs over every major American city and the need for "justice for the black man, the Spanish-speaking American and for the American Indian."

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. — How can I, when driving a nail or screw near the end or edge of a board, prevent the wood from splitting?

A. — By boring small "pilot" holes first before driving your nails or screws.

Q. — What is wrong if a faucet starts to drip again soon after a new washer has been installed?

A. — Chances are that the seat against which the washer presses has become damaged in some way and needs regrinding or replacing. There are special kits and tools for this purpose at hardware or plumbing houses.

County's Move Clears Way For Road Project

LISBON — Columbiana County Commissioners Thursday signed an agreement clearing the way for construction of Route 11 extension in Fairfield Township with a bridge over relocated Cherry Fork Rd. Bids will be opened Tuesday at Columbus.

The action providing for twin-spans over the township road ended a stalemate which developed last January when the Commissioners rejected an Ohio Highway Department request to vacate a section of the township road for the four-lane super road.

The Commissioners voted against vacation following a public hearing at the Courthouse. Opponents said Township Rd. 868 and Township Rd. 790 which it joins provide a short-cut for Salem area residents working in Columbiana plants. They said blocking the road at the Route 11 crossover would destroy the industrial potential of a large area north of the Penn Central railroad tracks.

State engineers said a traffic check on the township road indicated it does not receive enough use to justify spending an estimated $350,000 for a bridge.

In the resolution yesterday the Commissioners agreed to improve the two township roads to 40-mile-per-hour design standards within three years of the date the state lets a contract for the Route 11 bridge.

The county - township work will include construction of a new bridge on 868 just west of the location where Route 11 will cross, six-tenths of a mile west of Valley Golf Club. The township roads are to be widened to a 20-foot pavement with 8-foot berms from Route 344 at valley golf to Route 14 alternate.

Thomas Hisink of the department's Division 11 at New Philadelphia was present for the signing and took the resolution to state officials.

Charles J. Gause, president of the Commissioners, announced groundbreaking ceremonies for the new County Airport will be held at 2 p.m. Nov. 14. Roland A. Getz of Mansfield has a $355,018 contract to build the airport on the site of Swaney Airport north of Glenmoor.

The commissioners have authorized advertising for bids for the sale of notes in anticipation of issuance of bonds to pay the county's share of the airport project.

Offers will be received at the commissioners' office until 2 p.m. Nov. 7. Interest is not to exceed 6 per cent and the notes shall run for a period of five years.

The commissioners expect to adopt a resolution Monday to issue notes for $100,000.

Commissioners renewed an agreement to pay four area banks 50 cents for each transaction handled in the federal food stamp program. Banks handling stamps are First National of East Liverpool, Farmers National of Salem, Citizens Banking Co. of Salineville and New Waterford Bank.

The city of East Liverpool was paid $23 for 46 stray dogs destroyed during September.

Gause said an application for federal assistance with the Salem Northeast Sewer District will be made to the Chicago office of the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Mrs. Ann King, director, announced that applicants for the outreach worker position will be screened next week.

Ray Manning presided. The next meeting will be Oct. 24 at 7:30, with the public invited.

According to Hancock County deputies, the Myers car was traveling south on Washington St., when a car driven by Mrs. Phyllis Conto, 23, of Wheeling, backed out of a parking lot into the oncoming vehicle.

Coal Miners' Strike Heads Into Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strike against the nation's soft coal mines appears headed into the weekend after industry officials objected to some provisions of a contract that had appeared all but settled on.

"I think we're going over the weekend" one source said about efforts to sign a contract between the 80,000 United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

About 30 top association officials met Thursday and balked at some terms of a tentative contract worked out earlier this week by UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle and association President George Judy.

That proposal provided about a $2.50 a day increase in wage and fringe benefits for the miners who now get between $27.25 and $30 daily.

There was no word about what the objections were.

Pending signing of the new contract, the UMW workers continued their 22-state walkout, which started on a scattered basis Oct. 14 and spread to include the whole industry last Tuesday.

which said a cable anchorage is seriously corroded.

The Modjeski & Masters company of Harrisburg, Pa., also has recommended the bridge be limited to one lane within a year and closed in two years due to the rapidly deteriorating condition of the anchorage.

Advised of the new restriction placed on use of the span, Brenan said Gov. Hulett Smith of West Virginia already has instructed the Road Commission to expedite the project.

The preliminary survey for the new span is being conducted by Wilbur Smith & Associates of New Haven, Conn., who also did the survey for the Route 22 bridge site at Steubenville.

In order to continue the present traffic pattern across the Ohio River in the Chester area, the proposed new bridge would be erected in general proximity to the present span, Brenan said.

Gov. Smith in a visit to Chester earlier this year indicated a new span would probably be a toll bridge.

Officials at the Division 11 headquarters of the Ohio Department of Highways at New Philadelphia said today they are awaiting instructions on erection of signs and implementing the 45 - foot space directive. Authorities at Columbus said yesterday signs would be installed "within several days."

VITAMINS

Q. Is there any harm in taking a one-a-day multivitamin capsule containing eight to ten times the daily minimum requirement of vitamin B?

A. There is no justification for taking more than the minimum daily allowances of multivitamins as a dietary supplement. The daily minimum vitamin allowances are designed for the maintenance of good nutrition in practically all healthy persons in the United States.

PHOBIAS

Q. I am absolutely terrified by cats. Is there any way to overcome this phobia?

A. With proper professional guidance it is often possible to overcome any phobia by building up a "tolerance". For example, the cat-phobic person progressively handles cloth graded in texture and appearance from very unlike cat fur to very much like cat fur (rabbit). The last step is to handle a live kitten. It is much like conditioning a child who is afraid of dogs by giving him a puppy. The puppy is friendly and playful and is enough unlike a grown dog to be accepted by the child. Tolerance to dogs develops as the puppy grows. Eventually, the phobia against all dogs disappears.

Coal Miners' Strike Heads Into Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — The strike against the nation's soft coal mines appears headed into the weekend after industry officials objected to some provisions of a contract that had appeared all but settled on.

"I think we're going over the weekend" one source said about efforts to sign a contract between the 80,000 United Mine Workers and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association.

About 30 top association officials met Thursday and balked at some terms of a tentative contract worked out earlier this week by UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle and association President George Judy.

That proposal provided about a $2.50 a day increase in wage and fringe benefits for the miners who now get between $27.25 and $30 daily.

There was no word about what the objections were.

Pending signing of the new contract, the UMW workers continued their 22-state walkout, which started on a scattered basis Oct. 14 and spread to include the whole industry last Tuesday.

which said a cable anchorage is seriously corroded.

The Modjeski & Masters company of Harrisburg, Pa., also has recommended the bridge be limited to one lane within a year and closed in two years due to the rapidly deteriorating condition of the anchorage.

Advised of the new restriction placed on use of the span, Brenan said Gov. Hulett Smith of West Virginia already has instructed the Road Commission to expedite the project.

The preliminary survey for the new span is being conducted by Wilbur Smith & Associates of New Haven, Conn., who also did the survey for the Route 22 bridge site at Steubenville.

In order to continue the present traffic pattern across the Ohio River in the Chester area, the proposed new bridge would be erected in general proximity to the present span, Brenan said.

Gov. Smith in a visit to Chester earlier this year indicated a new span would probably be a toll bridge.

Officials at the Division 11 headquarters of the Ohio Department of Highways at New Philadelphia said today they are awaiting instructions on erection of signs and implementing the 45 - foot space directive. Authorities at Columbus said yesterday signs would be installed "within several days."

VITAMINS

Q. Is there any harm in taking a one-a-day multivitamin capsule containing eight to ten times the daily minimum requirement of vitamin B?

A. There is no justification for taking more than the minimum daily allowances of multivitamins as a dietary supplement. The daily minimum vitamin allowances are designed for the maintenance of good nutrition in practically all healthy persons in the United States.

PHOBIAS

Q. I am absolutely terrified by cats. Is there any way to overcome this phobia?

A. With proper professional guidance it is often possible to overcome any phobia by building up a "tolerance". For example, the cat-phobic person progressively handles cloth graded in texture and appearance from very unlike cat fur to very much like cat fur (rabbit). The last step is to handle a live kitten. It is much like conditioning a child who is afraid of dogs by giving him a puppy. The puppy is friendly and playful and is enough unlike a grown dog to be accepted by the child. Tolerance to dogs develops as the puppy grows. Eventually, the phobia against all dogs disappears.

Nixon Thinks Of Possible Europe Trip

DALLAS (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, predicting he'll "win big" in November, already is thinking about a possible postelection trip to Europe to meet with allied leaders.

Before flying to Dallas Thursday night from Akron, Ohio, the Republican presidential candidate met with former Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, just back from a 20-day fact finding mission to Western Europe on Nixon's behalf.

It was Scranton who disclosd, at a news conference, that Nixon would like preinaugural meetings with leaders of Western Europe should he gain the White House.

Scranton said Nixon would want to talk personally with as many European leaders as possible, assuming he is elected.

The Nixon campaign rolled through Illinois and Ohio Thursday with one public appearance in each state.

Speaking to an overflow crowd of more than 5,000 in a university field house at Akron, Nixon first tried to ignore anti-war chants by some 40 demonstrators. Then he said, as he had in similar situations before, that at a Nixon rally his backers shout down the hecklers. Then he waved his hand in mock salute to the protestors while many in the crowd faced them with thumbs-down gestures.

To a heckler-free crowd of 6,500 in a field house at Moline, Ill., the GOP nominee said:

"We're going to win in Illinois. We're going to win in the nation. We're going to win big."

Before his Akron rally, Nixon issued a statement aimed at breaking the traditional allegiance of labor to Democrats.

"The rank and file of American labor is rightly resentful of the way some union treasuries are being emptied to support the sagging campaign of an administration that has proven to be a false friend of labor," he said.

He said Democrats had broken their contract with labor "by failing to fight inflation."

Kent Director Gives Talk To Newell Group

Richard Q. King, director of the Kent State Academic Center in East Liverpool, was guest speaker Tuesday during a meeting of the Newell Junior Woman's Club.

He discussed "Further Education."

He said a survey shows that 35 per cent of all high school graduates go to college and that in the near future the figure is expected to reach 50 per cent. He also pointed out that the quality of the junior college and branch programs has improved, "with those in the upper percentage of their graduating classes atending."

King reviewed various reasons why the "home town" college appeals to students in contrast to the larger campuses.

A question-and-answer period followed.

Mrs. Joyce Kreider announced that Timber Craft has donated 15 bird houses to the group, with a workshop to assemble the houses set at the next meeting. The houses will be placed throughout the community by the Conservation Committee.

Further club projects include the providing of articles to a local nursing home. Members request that anyone wishing to donate old sheets or pillow cases for bedpads contact them.

The group also is involved in a program called "Project Concern" — an organization similar to the USS HOPE, but which operates on a domestic rather than an international level, Mrs. Marge Beckner, president, said.

Immediate plans include the establishment of medical clinics in Tennessee and at an Indian reservation in the west.

The Newell Juniorettes have received confirmation of their adoption of a child through the "Save the Children" federation, the president said.

In conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week, the Juniorettes made a poster saluting the members of the Newell Volunteer Fire Department. They also approved a donation to the department maintenance fund at the open house held Wednesday in the fire hall.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Penny Arnott, Mrs. Susan Geisse and Mrs. Grace Moore.

Nixon Thinks Of Possible Europe Trip

DALLAS (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, predicting he'll "win big" in November, already is thinking about a possible postelection trip to Europe to meet with allied leaders.

Before flying to Dallas Thursday night from Akron, Ohio, the Republican presidential candidate met with former Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, just back from a 20-day fact finding mission to Western Europe on Nixon's behalf.

It was Scranton who disclosd, at a news conference, that Nixon would like preinaugural meetings with leaders of Western Europe should he gain the White House.

Scranton said Nixon would want to talk personally with as many European leaders as possible, assuming he is elected.

The Nixon campaign rolled through Illinois and Ohio Thursday with one public appearance in each state.

Speaking to an overflow crowd of more than 5,000 in a university field house at Akron, Nixon first tried to ignore anti-war chants by some 40 demonstrators. Then he said, as he had in similar situations before, that at a Nixon rally his backers shout down the hecklers. Then he waved his hand in mock salute to the protestors while many in the crowd faced them with thumbs-down gestures.

To a heckler-free crowd of 6,500 in a field house at Moline, Ill., the GOP nominee said:

"We're going to win in Illinois. We're going to win in the nation. We're going to win big."

Before his Akron rally, Nixon issued a statement aimed at breaking the traditional allegiance of labor to Democrats.

"The rank and file of American labor is rightly resentful of the way some union treasuries are being emptied to support the sagging campaign of an administration that has proven to be a false friend of labor," he said.

He said Democrats had broken their contract with labor "by failing to fight inflation."

Hancock County's Residents Again Cautioned About Fires

With Fire Prevention Week drawing to a close, Hancock County residents have been called on again to check their homes for potential fire hazards.

The appeal came from Lee Haney, a member of the Chester department and president of the Hancock County Firefighters Association.

Haney said that each room in a home should have two escape routes and that each member of the family should engage in regularly held fire drills. He noted that "careful planning and regular drills could save lives."

William Prosser of Weirton Heights, secretary of the county association, pointed out that one of every five fire victims is a child under five years of age. He stressed the importance of never leaving children alone in a home, and keeping matches and lighters out of their reach.

"Don't let them play near stoves and furnaces, and outdoors be wary of bonfires and field fires," he advised.

With Halloween soon to be celebrated, both men reminded parents to be sure that party costumes and decorations are flame proof. "Give them a flashlight or electric candle instead of a candle for Halloween," they said.

John Stankiewicz Jr., public relations officers of the Weirton Heights Volunteer Fire Department, reminded residents to check their homes for possible hazards and if help is needed to call the fire department and ask for an inspection.

30-Day Term Given To Man

A 35-year-old Beaver County man was sentenced to a 30-day term in County Jail and fined $25 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on charges he made unprovoked assaults on two men in East Liverpool in separate incidents Thursday night.

Paul Baker of Beaver Falls, formerly of East Liverpool, was sentenced to a 15-day term on a charge of assault and battery on Wolf Storl, 26, of 908 Florence St., and a consecutive 15-day term on a charge of assault and battery on Frank Christy of the Irish Ridge Rd. He was given the $25 fine on the intoxication charge.

Storl, a Kent State University instructor, told police he was walking on E. 6th St. near Crook Alley about 9:47 p. m. when an unknown man assaulted him for no reason, causing a laceration of his upper lip. Storl walked into headquarters and reported the assault. He said he was encountered by three men and one of them struck him without cause.

Storl was taken to City Hospital for treatment. Meanwhile, police started a search for the assailant. Lt. Paul Blevins and Patrolman Karl Samples arrested Baker at 10:17 in Green Ln. on the strength of Storl's description. Storl identified him as the man who assaulted him. He filed an assault charge this morning.

Christy appeared in Municipal Court this morning and filed assault charges against Baker. He said he was standing in the Diamond Restaurant with a friend about 10 when Baker entered "and started to pick on me." Christy said he was struck by Baker.

Baker identified himself as a truck driver. He remonstrated with the court on the jail sentence and added he will lose his job, but the judge replied: "You should have thought about that last night."

30-Day Term Given To Man

A 35-year-old Beaver County man was sentenced to a 30-day term in County Jail and fined $25 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on charges he made unprovoked assaults on two men in East Liverpool in separate incidents Thursday night.

Paul Baker of Beaver Falls, formerly of East Liverpool, was sentenced to a 15-day term on a charge of assault and battery on Wolf Storl, 26, of 908 Florence St., and a consecutive 15-day term on a charge of assault and battery on Frank Christy of the Irish Ridge Rd. He was given the $25 fine on the intoxication charge.

Storl, a Kent State University instructor, told police he was walking on E. 6th St. near Crook Alley about 9:47 p. m. when an unknown man assaulted him for no reason, causing a laceration of his upper lip. Storl walked into headquarters and reported the assault. He said he was encountered by three men and one of them struck him without cause.

Storl was taken to City Hospital for treatment. Meanwhile, police started a search for the assailant. Lt. Paul Blevins and Patrolman Karl Samples arrested Baker at 10:17 in Green Ln. on the strength of Storl's description. Storl identified him as the man who assaulted him. He filed an assault charge this morning.

Christy appeared in Municipal Court this morning and filed assault charges against Baker. He said he was standing in the Diamond Restaurant with a friend about 10 when Baker entered "and started to pick on me." Christy said he was struck by Baker.

Baker identified himself as a truck driver. He remonstrated with the court on the jail sentence and added he will lose his job, but the judge replied: "You should have thought about that last night."

Screen Door Aids Mom

DER HELOISE: I think we've finally found the answer to a problem that may plague other new or future parents.

Heloise

When our first baby arrived, we were worried about our cat entering the nursery while asother part I was busy in another part of the household.

So we replaced the regular nursery door with an inexpensive screen door.

This allowed air to circulate freely and I was able to hear the baby without worrying about the whereabouts of the cat.

A screen door is easy to paint or decorate for a baby's room and may be furnished with curtains for more privacy or to keep out light.

Also, by placing a hook or latch up high, mothers can be assured that their other little ones won't be able to enter the nursery and disturb baby's nap.

First, wet the hair with warm water and work up plenty of lather. Use your fingers or a brush to scrub along the hairline. Rub your scalp good with your fingertips, but DON'T scratch.

After a good washing, rinse away all the suds.

Now lather up again and repeat. It really takes that second sudsing and washing to get your hair REALLY clean.

Be sure and rinse thoroughly over and over again (until it squeaks).

HELEN ALLISON.

DEAR HELOISE: When hanging sheets or other large items on a cold or windy day, I fold them to the desired shape while in the house and clip on several clothespins where they will be when placed on the line.

Then I lay them partially folded in the clothes basket with the part containing the pins on top. They can be easily lifted from the basket and attached to the line, without reaching for clothespins.

This really shortens the length of time required outdoors to hang them.

Works, too, when it's so terribly hot outside and you want to get back in the cool house.

W.A.N.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently we had to repaint our former home that we rent out now.

After painting the walls and cleaning the floors, the black vinyl baseboards looked terrible next to the freshly painted walls and clean floor.

So my husband got some black tire paint (used by service stations and various tire companies) and painted the baseboards.

This covered all water spots and paint smudges, plus it gave them a new looking shine.

DEAR HELOISE: An easy way to dispose of those dead leaves in your yard is to use your lawn mower. Run over them two or three times and you will have a good mulch for your lawn.

Wallace Gets 'Crossed Up' On Heckling

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — George C. Wallace came to the Duluth Arena, which 6,350 people filled to capacity Thursday night, with a bouquet of roses to toss to hecklers.

But there was no heckling.

About 50 or 100 persons walked out early in his speech without fuss. The rest of the audience applauded politely, and at times enthusiastically, but were markedly more restrained than other audiences in recent days.

Consequently, when Wallace came to his customary criticism of the press and singled out his favorite target, the New York Times, an aide delivered a single rose to correspondent Martin Waldros who responded with a bow.

Aboard his airplane enroute to Duluth, Wallace strolled the aisle making jokes with the reporters accompanying him.

"You boys better start writing some good things about me," he said, "I look like I'm going to make it."

Predicting how he thought press reaction to his candidacy would change in the 3½ weeks remaining until election day, Wallace quipped: "It's like when Napoleon escaped from Elba. The first headlines said, 'The beast has escaped, he's in Granada.' But by the time he got to Paris the headlines were, 'Our great emperor has returned'."

To typically responsive crowds of 4,000 at the courthouse in Evansville, Ind., and 6,000 to 7,000 at the City Hall in Peoria, Ill., Wallace repeated his charge that the polls were "rigged" in favor of his Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon.

In more weighty portions of his speeches in both cities he stressed his pledge to end the Vietnam war militarily with conventional weapons if peace talks fail. In Evansville he announced he would send his running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, the former Air Force chief of staff, on a four-day fact-finding trip to Vietnam.

He told his Peoria audience: "If you're strong, you can go to the conference table; if you're weak, you can be blackmailed."

3 Cars Damaged In Strange Crash On St. Clair Ave.

Three cars were damaged in an unusual traffic mishap on lower St. Clair Ave. Thursday afternoon that was triggered when a wheel of one of the vehicles hit a storm sewer opening, causing it to veer across the center line, police said.

3 Cars Damaged In Strange Crash On St. Clair Ave.

Three cars were damaged in an unusual traffic mishap on lower St. Clair Ave. Thursday afternoon that was triggered when a wheel of one of the vehicles hit a storm sewer opening, causing it to veer across the center line, police said.

The collision at 2:15 on St. Clair 250 feet north of Walnut St. involved a northbound 1965 sedan driven by Sue Hales, 16, of 639 Fisher Ave. and southbound autos operated by Terry K. Hoffman, 18, of 519 E. 4th St. and Blaine B. Beadnell, 48, of 924 Wood St., Wellsville.

Miss Hales told Patrolman Charles Coen the right front wheel of her car dropped into the sewer opening, throwing the car out of control and causing it to veer left of the center lane. Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

The Serious Side Of Don Adams

One of the few really funny situation comedy series on TV is still "Get Smart," and one of the reasons is its star, Don Adams. It isn't only that Don is a funny comedian. He also is a good businessman.

Hal Humphrey

"This is our fourth season, and we could coast now like some of the others do, but I'm too deeply involved, and doing a series with me is painful. I've been in the hospital four times with exhaustion since 'Get Smart' began. I was a young, happy man when we started, but now look at me," says the harried Adams.

-:-

HE'S HAPPIER than he was last year, however. NBC came through with a bigger price for the series, allowing Adams and his producers to up the budget (he's part owner of the series). This, plus a new executive producer (Arne Sultan) and four regular writers, has made the operation better off than at any time before, says Adams.

"Except for Buck Henry, of course, who was with us the first two seasons, but we couldn't keep him. He's making 20 times the money he made here," Adams adds.

Henry was one of the creators of "Get Smart" and stayed on two seasons as story editor and writer, but then he moved on to movies. He wrote "The Graduate" and now is working on "Catch-22" —both directed by another genius, Mike Nichols.

-:-

LAST YEAR "Get Smart" changed producers in midseason after the first one, according to Adams, decided he didn't want to work as hard a schedule as Adams and the others involved demanded.

"Every script has to be rewritten, and this calls for long hours for everybody. This producer couldn't see it, so that fouled us up. I still have to satisfy myself. I know now that every episode can't be a gem, which I used to drive myself crazy trying to do, until I realized I'd never really be satisfied, but I still have to try," says Adams.

He's discovered, too, of course, that his taste doesn't make it with everyone.

-:-

"SOME OF THE SHOWS I think are the worst, other people tell me are great. Then I'll come up with one I believe is a classic and friends will say, 'It was all right,' but I know they didn't like it."

Adams comes by his exhaustion naturally. He's wondering what backing up a half hour Saturday night will do to his rating on "Get Smart."

"We're up against the second half of Jackie Gleason, and the only time NBC's given us a good lead-in show was "I Dream of Jeannie' the first season. They put 'Please Don't Eat the Daisies' ahead of us next and it was never above 89th place in the ratings, and last year it was the thing 'Maya,' which bombed out."

-:-

THIS SEASON Adams has Jack Webb's new "Adam-12" police series for his lead-in, and he hopes it will offset the Gleason competition.

"One think I won't do is another series," Adams comments. "It's too exhausting. I'd like to do some writing and directing. I might miss performing, I don't know. An actor is basically a puppet.

"The highest form of creativity is writing and directing. A bad actor can be made to look good by writing and directing, but a good actor still needs directing and writing. A few actors can maybe breathe something into a bad script, but not many."

He is forming his own company (Stacey Productions) and hopes to make his first movie next February. He'd star in it, but not in a TV idea he's also working on.

-:-

ADAMS also is partnered with writer-comedian Bill Dana and a non-show business professional named Bill Silverstein in their own ad agency, which in three years has jumped from $3 million to $10 million in billings.

Adams has written, produced and directed some of the company's commercials for auto dealers in New York. Another account is Playboy magazine.

Playing the bumbling, cocky Maxwell Smart could be a sideline with Adams—if he didn't take it so seriously.

Latest Figures Given On Stamps

LISBON — Columbiana County families enrolled in the federal food stamp program paid $26,014.40 for stamps last month and received bonus stamps worth $13,720.60, giving them a total buying power of $39,735.

Wilbur Warren, supervisor of the stamp program, said 698 families representing 2,017 persons participated in the program in September. The figures compare with 731 families and 2,170 persons in August, when participants bought $25,769 worth of stamps and received bonus stamps worth $16,028—a total of $41,797.

Warren said the program enables families in the low-income bracket to buy more and better food without spending any more than they did before signing. Some families, he added, are even spending less for food under the stamp plan than they did before.

He said families interested may obtain information at his office in the County Welfare Department building, 117 E. Washington St., Lisbon.

Dog Warning Issued

Industry Police Chief Ray Hendershot said dogs roaming at large in the borough will be picked up and taken to the Humane Society. He said residents have been complaining of garbage being spilled and flowers and shrubs destroyed. If the owners of the animals can be located, they will be fined, he said.

OFFICIALS in Washington, D.C., generally use more elegant transportation, but R. Peter Straus of the U.S. Agency for International Development likes scooting around the capital on this motor bike. Straus said he gets a little kidding, but this method gives him fresh air, saves gas and beats traffic problems.

Heart Transplant Plans Called Off

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Plans for a second heart transplant at Cleveland Clinic were canceled Thursday after it was found that the blood types of the donor and the prospective recipient did not match.

The body of the donor, an Akron woman who had suffered severe brain damage, was brought to Cleveland in anticipation of the transplant, and one of her kidneys was transplanted into a third person, clinic sources reported.

Neither the donor nor the recipient were identified, and hospital officials declined to say how the woman died.

The clinic performed Ohio's first heart transplant Sept. 4. The recipient in that operation, D. Howard Lawson, 50, of Akron, returned home Sept. 26.

Half the people in the United States over 55 have lost all their teeth, according to estimates.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

The Serious Side Of Don Adams

One of the few really funny situation comedy series on TV is still "Get Smart," and one of the reasons is its star, Don Adams. It isn't only that Don is a funny comedian. He also is a good businessman.

Hal Humphrey

"This is our fourth season, and we could coast now like some of the others do, but I'm too deeply involved, and doing a series with me is painful. I've been in the hospital four times with exhaustion since 'Get Smart' began. I was a young, happy man when we started, but now look at me," says the harried Adams.

-:-

HE'S HAPPIER than he was last year, however. NBC came through with a bigger price for the series, allowing Adams and his producers to up the budget (he's part owner of the series). This, plus a new executive producer (Arne Sultan) and four regular writers, has made the operation better off than at any time before, says Adams.

"Except for Buck Henry, of course, who was with us the first two seasons, but we couldn't keep him. He's making 20 times the money he made here," Adams adds.

Henry was one of the creators of "Get Smart" and stayed on two seasons as story editor and writer, but then he moved on to movies. He wrote "The Graduate" and now is working on "Catch-22" —both directed by another genius, Mike Nichols.

-:-

LAST YEAR "Get Smart" changed producers in midseason after the first one, according to Adams, decided he didn't want to work as hard a schedule as Adams and the others involved demanded.

"Every script has to be rewritten, and this calls for long hours for everybody. This producer couldn't see it, so that fouled us up. I still have to satisfy myself. I know now that every episode can't be a gem, which I used to drive myself crazy trying to do, until I realized I'd never really be satisfied, but I still have to try," says Adams.

He's discovered, too, of course, that his taste doesn't make it with everyone.

-:-

"SOME OF THE SHOWS I think are the worst, other people tell me are great. Then I'll come up with one I believe is a classic and friends will say, 'It was all right,' but I know they didn't like it."

Adams comes by his exhaustion naturally. He's wondering what backing up a half hour Saturday night will do to his rating on "Get Smart."

"We're up against the second half of Jackie Gleason, and the only time NBC's given us a good lead-in show was "I Dream of Jeannie' the first season. They put 'Please Don't Eat the Daisies' ahead of us next and it was never above 89th place in the ratings, and last year it was the thing 'Maya,' which bombed out."

-:-

THIS SEASON Adams has Jack Webb's new "Adam-12" police series for his lead-in, and he hopes it will offset the Gleason competition.

"One think I won't do is another series," Adams comments. "It's too exhausting. I'd like to do some writing and directing. I might miss performing, I don't know. An actor is basically a puppet.

"The highest form of creativity is writing and directing. A bad actor can be made to look good by writing and directing, but a good actor still needs directing and writing. A few actors can maybe breathe something into a bad script, but not many."

He is forming his own company (Stacey Productions) and hopes to make his first movie next February. He'd star in it, but not in a TV idea he's also working on.

-:-

ADAMS also is partnered with writer-comedian Bill Dana and a non-show business professional named Bill Silverstein in their own ad agency, which in three years has jumped from $3 million to $10 million in billings.

Adams has written, produced and directed some of the company's commercials for auto dealers in New York. Another account is Playboy magazine.

Playing the bumbling, cocky Maxwell Smart could be a sideline with Adams—if he didn't take it so seriously.

Heart Transplant Plans Called Off

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Plans for a second heart transplant at Cleveland Clinic were canceled Thursday after it was found that the blood types of the donor and the prospective recipient did not match.

The body of the donor, an Akron woman who had suffered severe brain damage, was brought to Cleveland in anticipation of the transplant, and one of her kidneys was transplanted into a third person, clinic sources reported.

Neither the donor nor the recipient were identified, and hospital officials declined to say how the woman died.

The clinic performed Ohio's first heart transplant Sept. 4. The recipient in that operation, D. Howard Lawson, 50, of Akron, returned home Sept. 26.

Half the people in the United States over 55 have lost all their teeth, according to estimates.

ANN LANDERS

Late Child Has Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: When I read your recent plug for late motherhood my nervous cough, which had not bothered me for years, suddenly reappeared.

My mother was 43 when I was born, so I think I can speak with first-hand knowledge. Here's how it looks from here:

We "late dividends," as you so lovingly call us, usually lose our fathers when we are in our teens. They die of old age. We never know a grandparent. They usually die before we are born. Our widowed mother does not associate with the mothers of our friends because they are separated by approximately 20 years.

If we want to marry we must either take mother in or move in with her. She is too old to leave along. (Guilt!)

Please, Ann, let this subject alone. Children are for parents in their 20s. People in the 40s should have grandchildren. — HORSE'S MOUTH.

-:-

Dear Mouth: When a woman 41 writes to say she is in her sixth month and feeling rotten about it I'm not going to tell her to go jump off a cliff.

You've made some good points and I don't deny it, but it's amazing how many women have written to say their late baby was the one who gave them the greatest pleasure.

Breakfast Club

Dear Ann: Every morning at 7:15 our neighbor who works in the same office with my husband drops by to give my husband a lift. This has been going on for 18 months. I know the routine by heart.

He says, "Just give me coffee." Then he winds up reaching for the muffins, the rolls, the berries, the cereal — everything in sight. When we have bacon and eggs he says, "My, that smells good. Just one egg for me, please."

The office is 12 short blocks from here and a nice big bus runs by our house every 20 minutes. It goes straight past the office.

This clown has a strong, healthy wife who likes to sleep in the morning. I'm getting so I hate the sight of him. My husband says he's no extra work and, besides, the ride in the morning makes it a fair deal for everyone. What do you say? —SHORT-ORDER COOK.

-:-

Dear Cook: Tell your husband the walk to work in the morning will add years to his life and the novelty of not having company for breakfast will add zest to yours. When the weather is bad he could make an exception, but a daily boarder at dawn is like forget it.

Notorious Tramp

Dear Ann: My husband's sister was married to a wonderful man. They had three attractive children. The oldest is now 8.

Two years ago my sister-in-law's "indiscretions" became so widely known that her husband divorced her. The man she was running with promptly moved into her home. She says she would marry him but she doesn't want to give up the alimony, which is "beautiful."

If she didn't have the children I'd look the other way, but under the circumstances I think she's a tramp. What would you call her?—VERITAS.

-:-

Dear Ver: She didn't call me so I don't have to call her. The name is as good as any, however, under the circumstances. So, if you want to call her a tramp, be my guest.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Akron Hospital Struck By 150; Pickets Set Up

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Hawthornden State Hospital was struck shortly before midnight Thursday night by some 150 employes in a dispute over working conditions.

Pickets were set up at all three entrances to the institution, which is located in Sagamore Hills.

Members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes had threatened to strike the hospital last May over a series of grievances.

Signs carried by the picketers protested lack of action by the state government on grievances made last March. The charges made at that time said some hospital staff members abused their authority and that employment practices at the hospital were unfair.

Hospital employes said Thursday night that the administration failed to make a promised investigation of the complaints. Hawthornden employs about 650 persons, including professional and blue-collar workers.

Wallpaper was sold in rolls as early as 1699 and was first used as a cheap substitute for expensive wall hangings.

Celebration Slated In Columbus Sunday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A gala parade and fireworks display will be held Sunday as part of this city's celebration of Columbus Day.

Participating in the parade will be Miss Columbus USA and her court, 16 musical units, floats depicting great dates in American history, clowns, baton twirlers, and radio and television personalities.

Flocked wallpapers, popular today, were used in the 17th century and sold in rolls that were four feet wide.

Nixon Draws Heckling In Akron Talk

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon was heckled continually Thursday night when he tried to address some 5,000 persons at the University of Akron.

Two bands of hecklers, one on the main floor of the hall and the other in the balcony, kept up a chant of "Tell us the truth," and "Get out of Vietnam," as the Republican presidential nominee told supporters he would win the election Nov. 5.

Nixon, at first ignored the hecklers, but then retaliated by waving at them and shouting:

"Unlike Hubert Humphrey we shout down the hecklers."

There were roars of approval from the Nixon supporters who gave the former vice president and his wife, Pat, a tumultuous welcome when they arrived at the university from a downtown Akron hotel.

Nixon said the Republican party in the White House would restore respect for the American flag . . . "It will not be a doormat for anybody anymore," he added.

After arriving at Akron-Canton Airport Thursday afternoon from Illinois, Nixon went straight to his hotel where he spent two hours talking to former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

Scranton gave Nixon a report on his 20-day fact finding tour of Europe which he carried out at the Republican nominee's request.

The former governor said that for the people of Western Europe and some of their leaders their opinion of the United States had deteriorated.

He blamed this on the fact that Europeans could watch events in the United States on television and had been shocked by the racial violence and the troubles during the Democratic Convention in Chicago.

From Akron the Nixons flew to Dallas.

At a news conference for woman editors Mrs. Nixon defended her husband's refusal to comment on Vietnam.

"I think it is very important he do nothing to disturb the peace talks," she said.

Referring to the prominent use of television in the Nixon campaign, Mrs. Nixon said she seldom saw her husband's appearances but thought he came over better in color than in black and white.

It lends more warmth to a person's features," she said.

BPW Project Aided

UF Assists Child Clinic

The Child Health Clinic, founded in 1947 by the Business and Professional Women's Club, provides health care for children of needy families from birth to 5-years-old.

The clinic is directed by Dr. Alexander Fisher, and is staffed by volunteers from the BPW Club. Here, Dr. Fisher is examining the ears of a little girl with the help of Mrs. George McCullough and Miss Jane Crawford, volunteers.

The service include immunizations, dental work and minor surgery, along with providing milk, vitamins and medicine. The clinic is conducted the first Tuesday of each month at the City Health Department rooms, and has an average caseload of 150 patients annually.

Assistance is given the agency by the United Fund.

Presidential Hopefuls Are Hitting Ohio Hard

By The Associated Press

Presidential candidates are hitting Ohio hard in their quest for support in the Nov. 5 election.

Republican Richard M. Nixon spent a half-day in Akron Thursday and plans to be back in the Buckeye State later this month for a "whistle stop" tour from Cincinnati to Toledo.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey headed for Ohio today for a round of appearances in Cincinnati and an address before the National Newspaper Association convention.

And an aide of George C. Wallace announced plans Thursday to open an American Independent Party state headquarters in Columbus and declared that the party's ticket of Wallace and retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay "is now leading in Ohio."

Nixon said in a statement in industrial Akron Thursday that the rank and file of organized labor is disillusioned with the present administration because it has failed to halt inflation.

He said union men are "resentful of the way some union treasuries are being emptied to support the sagging campaign of an administration that has proven to be a false friend of labor."

Nixon encountered some heckling at the University of Akron, but received a loud roar from a crown of 5,000 when he urged his supporters to "shout down the hecklers."

The former vice president asked members of the audience to get to work, to "talk to 10 people on the fence between now and election" and help him carry Ohio.

While Nixon was in Akron, State GOP Chairman John S. Andrews announced that the Republican candidate would be back in Ohio Oct. 21-22 for a "whistle stop" train tour starting in Cincinnati with stops in Middletown, Dayton, Springfield, London, Columbus, Marion, Lima, Deshler and Toledo.

In connection with the trip, rallies are planned in Cincinnati, Columbus and Toledo.

Humphrey, accompanied by fellow Minnesotan U.S. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, was due in Cincinnati about 1 p. m. today.

Plans called for a press conference, a television interview, and a rally on Government Square before his scheduled appearance before the newspaper association.

Meanwhile, Humphrey's son, Robert, 24, is campaigning in Ohio for his father and was in Columbus.

G. Sage Lyons of Mobile, Ala., third party aspirant Wallace's national campaign coordinator, said the former Alabama governor will make another appearance in Ohio before election day.

He said LeMay, a native of Columbus, will make a separate visit to the state in behalf of the ticket.

In the hot contest for one of Ohio's U.S. Senate seats, Democrat John J. Gilligan again criticized his Republican opponent, William B. Saxbe, for refusing to meet him in a televised debate.

Saxbe denied Gilligan's claim that he refused to debate, noting that the two are scheduled to debate before the City Club in Cleveland just before the election.

Saxbe, in a speech prepared for delivery today at a breakfast meeting of Northeastern Ohio Jewish community leaders in Cleveland, chided the Johnson administration for its policies in the Middle East.

He said the administration's "vague and ambiguous" policy there could invite disaster.

Gilligan told a suburban Columbus Kiwanis Club Thursday that new forms of revenue must be found to finance education.

He noted that Americans spend nearly twice as much each year for liquor as they do on higher education.

Officers Are Named By Post-Prom Group

Officers were named durnig the first meeting of the Oak Glen Post - Prom Association Thursday night in the multipurpose room at the school.

Elected were Bruce Wheatley, president; Mrs. Donald Thornberry, vice president; Mrs. Fred McCoy, secretary, and Stanley Parkins, treasurer.

Forms are being mailed to the parents of junior and senior students inquiring whether or not a post-prom party should be held, Wheatley said.

The group will meet Oct. 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the school. Parents of students are invited to attend.

Pork Producers To Select Queen In Area Contest

LISBON — The Northeast Ohio Pork Producers Council will sponsor a pork queen contest as one of its first area-wide promotional activities.

The queen will be selected during the council's annual meeting Dec. 3 at 7 p.m. in Dutchman's Restaurant at Walnut Creek.

Contestants must be single girls, 17 to 21 by next Jan. 1, and live on a swine farm. No essay is required for the area contest.

Columbiana County girls may obtain contest information from the Cooperative Extension Service office on S. Market St. here.

Charles M. Martin of Warren, area extension agent for animal industry, said area, state and national pork producers are organizing themselves into councils for the purpose of initiating self - help programs through research, disease control, quality improvement, feeding and housing.

The programs will be financed by asking each market to deduct and process a 5-cent-per-head contribution from their check when they sell slaughter weight hogs or 3 cents per head when they sell feeder pigs. The market sends the contributions to the National Pork Producers Council and it, in turn, will send a portion to state and local association to help produce hogs more profitably; a share will be spent on national projects to sell products to consumers, and a portion will go to expand the work of the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Nixon Draws Heckling In Akron Talk

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon was heckled continually Thursday night when he tried to address some 5,000 persons at the University of Akron.

Two bands of hecklers, one on the main floor of the hall and the other in the balcony, kept up a chant of "Tell us the truth," and "Get out of Vietnam," as the Republican presidential nominee told supporters he would win the election Nov. 5.

Nixon, at first ignored the hecklers, but then retaliated by waving at them and shouting:

"Unlike Hubert Humphrey we shout down the hecklers."

There were roars of approval from the Nixon supporters who gave the former vice president and his wife, Pat, a tumultuous welcome when they arrived at the university from a downtown Akron hotel.

Nixon said the Republican party in the White House would restore respect for the American flag . . . "It will not be a doormat for anybody anymore," he added.

After arriving at Akron-Canton Airport Thursday afternoon from Illinois, Nixon went straight to his hotel where he spent two hours talking to former Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton.

Scranton gave Nixon a report on his 20-day fact finding tour of Europe which he carried out at the Republican nominee's request.

The former governor said that for the people of Western Europe and some of their leaders their opinion of the United States had deteriorated.

He blamed this on the fact that Europeans could watch events in the United States on television and had been shocked by the racial violence and the troubles during the Democratic Convention in Chicago.

From Akron the Nixons flew to Dallas.

At a news conference for woman editors Mrs. Nixon defended her husband's refusal to comment on Vietnam.

"I think it is very important he do nothing to disturb the peace talks," she said.

Referring to the prominent use of television in the Nixon campaign, Mrs. Nixon said she seldom saw her husband's appearances but thought he came over better in color than in black and white.

It lends more warmth to a person's features," she said.

Presidential Hopefuls Are Hitting Ohio Hard

By The Associated Press

Presidential candidates are hitting Ohio hard in their quest for support in the Nov. 5 election.

Republican Richard M. Nixon spent a half-day in Akron Thursday and plans to be back in the Buckeye State later this month for a "whistle stop" tour from Cincinnati to Toledo.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey headed for Ohio today for a round of appearances in Cincinnati and an address before the National Newspaper Association convention.

And an aide of George C. Wallace announced plans Thursday to open an American Independent Party state headquarters in Columbus and declared that the party's ticket of Wallace and retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay "is now leading in Ohio."

Nixon said in a statement in industrial Akron Thursday that the rank and file of organized labor is disillusioned with the present administration because it has failed to halt inflation.

He said union men are "resentful of the way some union treasuries are being emptied to support the sagging campaign of an administration that has proven to be a false friend of labor."

Nixon encountered some heckling at the University of Akron, but received a loud roar from a crown of 5,000 when he urged his supporters to "shout down the hecklers."

Tigers Down Cards 4-1 Behind Lolich, Win World Series

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

At the beginning of the season, it appeared that Bellaire St. John's would be one of the easier foes on the Potter schedule.

But after the first half of the season, the Irish are sporting a 5-0 mark, and are ahead of both Steubenville and Steubenville Central in the rating system used by the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference.

St. Johns is led by a lefthanded quarterback, Allen Hornyak. Hornyak, of course, is the all-state basketball player who averaged 42 points a game last season, though he was held to 25 in a loss to East Liverpool at the MA. Hornyak also pitched a few no-hitters in the spring and played for the Bridgeport Legion team that was beaten by East Liverpool Post 374 for the Ohio Valley championship.

St. John's will apear at Patterson Field Nov. 1.

SECOND RANKED Mentor, which handled Berea Mid-Park 31-0 last week, is unscored upon for the year.

WEIRTON'S Ron (Fritz) Williams is reported off to a good start with the San Francisco Warriors in the National Basketball Association.

BEAVER LOCAL'S Rex Campbell, who went to Ohio U. on a partial baseball scholarship this fall, has left the Athens school and enrolled at Youngstown State.

YOUNGSTOWN city schools, troubled by rioting after football games two weeks ago, have gone back to night football tonight, after playing afternoon games last week.

Flood Stumble Opens Gates

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Willie Horton stood in the Detroit dugout watching Tiger catcher Bill Frehan settle under the pop fly.

"It was the darndest thing," said Horton, dripping from champagne in the soggy but happy Detroit dressing room Thursday. "He looked like Santa Claus to me catching that ball."

When Freehan squeezed the last out popup clinching Detroit's 4-1 seventh game victory and the world championship it set off a riotous celebration and meant a difference of about $4,000 a man for the Tigers.

Two innings earlier, Norm Cash and Horton had singled with two out against Bob Gibson, posing Detroit's first threat in the scoreless duel between the Cardinal ace and Mickey Lolich.

Then Jim Northrup hit a drive to center field. Curt Flood started in on the ball, then turned and stumbled. When Flood finally ran it down, Northrup had a triple and the Tigers were leading 2-0.

"I knew when he slipped that he'd never catch the ball," said Horton. "I said to myself, 'Run, run, run,' and I was going so hard I almost missed the turn at third base."

Bill Freehan followed with a run-scoring double and now the Tigers were nine outs away from the title.

Lolich, working with just two days rest, got them easily, disturbed only by Mike Shannon's two-out homer in the ninth which cost him the shutout.

Cash, the Tigers' first baseman, described the feeling on the bench after Detroit had broken through against the seemingly invincible Gibson.

"We knew, with Mickey pitching so well, that if we could score, we'd beat him," said Cash. "Around the fifth or sixth inning we started getting good wood on the ball and we knew we'd break through. When we did, it was great."

Northrup, whose hit broke the tie, sympathized with Flood's problems on the ball.

"It was slippery out there from the rain the day before," the Tiger center fielder said.

"I knew I hit the ball well and that it had a chance to go for extra bases. When I wound up on third base and looked up at the scoreboard and saw those two runs up there, I knew we couldn't lose."

The turning point in the game may have been in the inning before the Tigers scored. Both Lou Brock and Curt Flood singled and both were picked off by Lolich.

Brock opened the Cardinal sixth with his record-tying 13th hit of the Series, and, with a record eighth steal beckoning, he stepped off first farther and farther until Cash almost couldn't believe the size of his lead.

"I yelled for the ball," the Tiger first baseman explained. As Lolich threw, Brock took off and Cash fired to shortstop Mickey Stanley at second base for the putout.

The play was duplicated moments later when Flood singled and Lolich picked him off, too. "Mickey just guessed right on that one," said Cash.

The Tigers then broke through against Gibson and became only the fourth team in Series history to win the title after being down three games to one. The others were the 1903 Boston Red Sox in a nine-game Series and the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates and 1958 New York Yankees in seven-game sets. Detroit was an 8-1 underdog after dropping three of the first four.

Lolich, who pitched a five-hitter for his third Series victory, earned the car awarded to the most valuable player. Mayo Smith, manager of the Tigers, may have earned even more.

When John Fetzer, the club's owner, embraced him and called him "my manager of the year," Mayo smiled and said, "Just remember, my contract is up this year."

It's a cinch he'll get a fatter one for 1969.

'Monster Machine' Aids Lolich Comeback

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — It's 9:30 Wednesday night when suddenly there is a knock on the door. Mickey Lolich answers it, and watches with a quizzical look on his face as two men entered carrying a machine. At the same time, the good doctor leads Lolich to the bed and begins wiring his body.

"It looked like," said Lolich, "they were trying to make me a Frankenstein monster."

Instead, they made the hero of the 1968 World Series, for the strange-looking machine relaxed the muscles in his pitching arm enough so that, with only two days rest, he was able to pitch Detroit to a 4-1 victory over St. Louis in Thursday's decisive seventh game.

"The machine is a weird looking thing," the champagne-drenched Lolich said afterward in the Detroit dressing room.

"It's some kind of electric treatment monster. They hook all these wires up to you along with four wet sponge rubber pads on the front and back of the shoulder. I thought I might get electrocuted at any time.

"It feels like someone is grabbing and squeezing the tissues in your arm," he continued. "But the doctor said it would cause my muscles to relax, and when I went out to the bullpen I felt like a million dollars."

He looked like it to the Tigers as he stopped the Cardinals on five hits, won his third game of the seven-game set and achieved the distinction of ending Bob Gibson's string of Series victories at seven.

But you have to go back to a week ago Thursday and his first start to get a full appreciation of what the likeable 28-year-old left-hander achieved in practically singlehandedly pitching Detroit to its first world championship in 23 years.

In game 2, he went all the way in a six-hit, 8-1 victory—and also hit a homer—that squared the Series 1-1, after Gibson had put the Cardinals one-up by beating 31-game winner Denny McLain in their first confrontation.

Then, Monday, in game 5, with the Tigers down three games to one, Lolich gave up three runs in the first inning but hung on to start the Tigers' comeback with another route-going performance in a 5-3 triumph.

Finally, on Thursday, Lolich went back to the mound with just two days' rest and put together a masterpiece marred only by Mike Shannon's two-out homer in the ninth.

Besides the ninth, Lolich had only one other spot of trouble. In the sixth, daring Lou Brock singled. Cardinal fans got what they expected as the lithe outfielder stretched his lead off first base and appeared to be ready to make a dash for a record-breaking eighth stolen base.

"All of a sudden," said Lolich, "I heard Cash (first baseman Norm Cash) yell something. So I looked up and Brock was way off. I said to myself I'm going to throw the ball to Norm and let him make the mistake."

Cash didn't. Brock broke for second, but Cash's throw nailed him. One out later Curt Flood also singled and Lolich also picked him off. Then, in the seventh, the Tigers exploded for three runs.

And Lolich had all the support he needed to become only the 12th pitcher in World Series history to win three games in one Series.

Now the slightly paunchy southpaw, who won 17 games during the regular season, can return to his hobbies—archery, pistols, motorcycles—unless someone comes up with a job.

For right at this point Lolich trails the 31-game-winning McLain in the post-season appearance department.

"No," he said, referring to McLain's salary demands. "I don't think I'll make $100,000 next year. I'll be happy with $50,000. As a matter of fact, right now I don't have a job. I'll probably be on my motorcycle Friday."

But he'll listen to any offers.

"I play around a little with the drums," he said with a smile. "And I do some singing.

"Maybe somebody will want me."

Bobby Hull Announces Retirement From Hockey

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Hockey League has been shaken — from President Clarence Campbell and its hierarchy, to club owners, and to fandom—by Bobby Hull's announced retirement.

The Golden Jet played 11 seasons with the Chicago Black Hawks, scoring 414 goals. Six times he topped the NHL in goals scored and three times he scored 50 or more in a single season.

Absence of the 29-year-old superstar would be felt not only to the roots of the Black Hawks' organization but also could be reflected at the gate throughout the expanded circuit.

All this could be a wedge by Hull in a salary rift. He planned his announcement Thursday as a jolt to the hockey empire, on the eve of the opening of the NHL season with three games tonight.

Chicago is at home to St. Louis, Detroit at Boston and Minnesota at Oakland.

Campbell pointed out, however, that Hull has not yet signed voluntary retirement papers which would keep him out of the game at least a full year from date of signing.

Pinson Goes To Cards For Tolan, Granger

By The Associated Press

"We're still No. 1," said Bobby Tolan after the St. Louis Cardinals lost the World Series Thursday. Minutes later he was No. 4, a member of the fourth-place Cincinnati Reds.

Despite the Series setback, a break-up-the-Cardinals movement began shortly after the Redbirds were dethroned as world champions by the Detroit Tigers.

The Cards dealt away three players and acquired three others to highlight a host of non-Series baseball goings-on.

Joe Schultz, a St. Louis coach, was named manager of the new Seattle Pilots of the American League, two more managers were due to be named today and more deals were reported in the works.

Tolan, a promising young outfielder, and right-handed relief pitcher Wayne Granger were shipped to Cincinnati, apparently for outfielder Vada Pinson.

"Red (Manager Red Schoendienst) didn't tell me who we were traded for, but I guess it was for Pinson," Tolan said.

Catcher Johnny Edwards, who gave St. Louis valuable service as Tim McCarver's backup man this season, said he had been dealt to Houston for right-handed pitcher Dave Giusti and catcher Dave Adlesh. There was no official announcement from the Cardinals.

While Seattle was naming the 50-year-old Schultz as manager, the San Francisco Giants and Minnesota Twins scheduled news conferences Friday to name their new skippers.

Billy Martin, a former coach, is expected to get the Twins' job, succeeding Cal Ermer, who was let go after bringing the team home in seventh place.

In San Francisco, speculation centers on Clyde King, a former major league pitching coach, as replacement for Herman Franks, who stepped down after four straight second-place finishes.

Schultz, a Cardinal coach since 1963, reached the majors as a catcher with Pitlsburgh in 1939 and later played with the St. Louis Browns. He was a coach with the Browns in 1949 and then managed in the minors until joining the Cards.

The fledgling Pilots also named three coaches — Frank Crosetti, long-time third base coach with the New York Yankees who resigned last week; Sal Maglie, who was fired as pitching coach of the Boston Red Sox after they won the 1967 American League pennant, and Ron Plaza, a former Cardinal

Tigers Down Cards 4-1 Behind Lolich, Win World Series

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

At the beginning of the season, it appeared that Bellaire St. John's would be one of the easier foes on the Potter schedule.

But after the first half of the season, the Irish are sporting a 5-0 mark, and are ahead of both Steubenville and Steubenville Central in the rating system used by the Ohio Valley Athletic Conference.

St. Johns is led by a lefthanded quarterback, Allen Hornyak. Hornyak, of course, is the all-state basketball player who averaged 42 points a game last season, though he was held to 25 in a loss to East Liverpool at the MA. Hornyak also pitched a few no-hitters in the spring and played for the Bridgeport Legion team that was beaten by East Liverpool Post 374 for the Ohio Valley championship.

St. John's will apear at Patterson Field Nov. 1.

SECOND RANKED Mentor, which handled Berea Mid-Park 31-0 last week, is unscored upon for the year.

WEIRTON'S Ron (Fritz) Williams is reported off to a good start with the San Francisco Warriors in the National Basketball Association.

BEAVER LOCAL'S Rex Campbell, who went to Ohio U. on a partial baseball scholarship this fall, has left the Athens school and enrolled at Youngstown State.

YOUNGSTOWN city schools, troubled by rioting after football games two weeks ago, have gone back to night football tonight, after playing afternoon games last week.

'Monster Machine' Aids Lolich Comeback

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — It's 9:30 Wednesday night when suddenly there is a knock on the door. Mickey Lolich answers it, and watches with a quizzical look on his face as two men entered carrying a machine. At the same time, the good doctor leads Lolich to the bed and begins wiring his body.

"It looked like," said Lolich, "they were trying to make me a Frankenstein monster."

Instead, they made the hero of the 1968 World Series, for the strange-looking machine relaxed the muscles in his pitching arm enough so that, with only two days rest, he was able to pitch Detroit to a 4-1 victory over St. Louis in Thursday's decisive seventh game.

"The machine is a weird looking thing," the champagne-drenched Lolich said afterward in the Detroit dressing room.

"It's some kind of electric treatment monster. They hook all these wires up to you along with four wet sponge rubber pads on the front and back of the shoulder. I thought I might get electrocuted at any time.

"It feels like someone is grabbing and squeezing the tissues in your arm," he continued. "But the doctor said it would cause my muscles to relax, and when I went out to the bullpen I felt like a million dollars."

He looked like it to the Tigers as he stopped the Cardinals on five hits, won his third game of the seven-game set and achieved the distinction of ending Bob Gibson's string of Series victories at seven.

But you have to go back to a week ago Thursday and his first start to get a full appreciation of what the likeable 28-year-old left-hander achieved in practically singlehandedly pitching Detroit to its first world championship in 23 years.

In game 2, he went all the way in a six-hit, 8-1 victory—and also hit a homer—that squared the Series 1-1, after Gibson had put the Cardinals one-up by beating 31-game winner Denny McLain in their first confrontation.

Then, Monday, in game 5, with the Tigers down three games to one, Lolich gave up three runs in the first inning but hung on to start the Tigers' comeback with another route-going performance in a 5-3 triumph.

Finally, on Thursday, Lolich went back to the mound with just two days' rest and put together a masterpiece marred only by Mike Shannon's two-out homer in the ninth.

Besides the ninth, Lolich had only one other spot of trouble. In the sixth, daring Lou Brock singled. Cardinal fans got what they expected as the lithe outfielder stretched his lead off first base and appeared to be ready to make a dash for a record-breaking eighth stolen base.

"All of a sudden," said Lolich, "I heard Cash (first baseman Norm Cash) yell something. So I looked up and Brock was way off. I said to myself I'm going to throw the ball to Norm and let him make the mistake."

Cash didn't. Brock broke for second, but Cash's throw nailed him. One out later Curt Flood also singled and Lolich also picked him off. Then, in the seventh, the Tigers exploded for three runs.

Flood Stumble Opens Gates

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Willie Horton stood in the Detroit dugout watching Tiger catcher Bill Frehan settle under the pop fly.

"It was the darndest thing," said Horton, dripping from champagne in the soggy but happy Detroit dressing room Thursday. "He looked like Santa Claus to me catching that ball."

When Freehan squeezed the last out popup clinching Detroit's 4-1 seventh game victory and the world championship it set off a riotous celebration and meant a difference of about $4,000 a man for the Tigers.

Two innings earlier, Norm Cash and Horton had singled with two out against Bob Gibson, posing Detroit's first threat in the scoreless duel between the Cardinal ace and Mickey Lolich.

Then Jim Northrup hit a drive to center field. Curt Flood started in on the ball, then turned and stumbled. When Flood finally ran it down, Northrup had a triple and the Tigers were leading 2-0.

"I knew when he slipped that he'd never catch the ball," said Horton. "I said to myself, 'Run, run, run,' and I was going so hard I almost missed the turn at third base."

Bill Freehan followed with a run-scoring double and now the Tigers were nine outs away from the title.

Lolich, working with just two days rest, got them easily, disturbed only by Mike Shannon's two-out homer in the ninth which cost him the shutout.

Cash, the Tigers' first baseman, described the feeling on the bench after Detroit had broken through against the seemingly invincible Gibson.

"We knew, with Mickey pitching so well, that if we could score, we'd beat him," said Cash. "Around the fifth or sixth inning we started getting good wood on the ball and we knew we'd break through. When we did, it was great."

Northrup, whose hit broke the tie, sympathized with Flood's problems on the ball.

"It was slippery out there from the rain the day before," the Tiger center fielder said.

"I knew I hit the ball well and that it had a chance to go for extra bases. When I wound up on third base and looked up at the scoreboard and saw those two runs up there, I knew we couldn't lose."

The turning point in the game may have been in the inning before the Tigers scored. Both Lou Brock and Curt Flood singled and both were picked off by Lolich.

Brock opened the Cardinal sixth with his record-tying 13th hit of the Series, and, with a record eighth steal beckoning, he stepped off first farther and farther until Cash almost couldn't believe the size of his lead.

"I yelled for the ball," the Tiger first baseman explained. As Lolich threw, Brock took off and Cash fired to shortstop Mickey Stanley at second base for the putout.

The play was duplicated moments later when Flood singled and Lolich picked him off, too. "Mickey just guessed right on that one," said Cash.

The Tigers then broke through against Gibson and became only the fourth team in Series history to win the title after being down three games to one. The others were the 1903 Boston Red Sox in a nine-game Series and the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates and 1958 New York Yankees in seven-game sets. Detroit was an 8-1 underdog after dropping three of the first four.

Lolich, who pitched a five-hitter for his third Series victory, earned the car awarded to the most valuable player. Mayo Smith, manager of the Tigers, may have earned even more.

When John Fetzer, the club's owner, embraced him and called him "my manager of the year," Mayo smiled and said, "Just remember, my contract is up this year."

It's a cinch he'll get a fatter one for 1969.

Potters Host Sixth-Ranked Warren Western Reserve

Hope To Avenge Lone '67 Defeat

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Warren Western Reserve, the sixth-ranked team in the state, will appear at Patterson Field Saturday night at 7:45 to face a determined band of Potters.

Last year, East Liverpool, unbeaten and ranked ninth in the state, traveled to Warren and suffered its lone loss of the season at the hands of the once-beaten Raiders, 22-0. Neither team lost another game all year and both ended in the Top 20.

This year the shoe is on the other foot, as the Potters want revenge for last season and also realize that a win over the Raiders would put East Liverpool back in the running for high state ranking.

"If we were at full strength I'd be very confident", says Potter coach Bob McNea, but he notes that without top defensive ends Jim Musuraca and Jerry Christian, the Potters may be vulnerable to sweeps, which is what Western Reserve does best. Jack Melvin and John Haney have played well filling in for Musuraca and Christian, but they can be beaten occasionally and the Potters can't afford any mistakes against the Raiders.

Stanley Ice, Floyd (Bub) Cranston and Don Cochran complete the defensive line, with Lou Volino and Denny Brennen at linebackers and Bob Pugh, Tom Chambers, John Johnson and Nelson (Sonny) Clark in the defensive backfield.

On offense, Johnson will be the split end and Melvin and Tom Gooding will share the tight end position. Cochran and Ice will be the tackles, but the center of the line is still unsettled. Brennen may shift back to center, with Volino and Pugh or Rick Shawke at the guard positions, or Jim (Moose) Jones may stay at center with Brennen at guard.

Chambers will start at fullback, with Musuraca and Herb Purton sidelined, and Clark and Steve (Travis) Williams will be the halfbacks and Dan Cunningham the quarterback.

The Raiders are only in their third year of football, but coach Dick Strahm has done an excellent job, with a 5-5 mark in 1966, 9-1 a year ago and 5-0 this season. The Raiders have rolled over Ashtabula 56-0, Akron South 38-0, Cuyahoga Falls 36-10, Austintown Fitch 36-0 and Warren Harding 14-6, outgaining their opponents 1,852-669 in the process.

Most of the Reserve players have started for three years, so there is excellent experience and cohesiveness on the team. Dave Zoba, the senior quarterback, had hit on 30 of 61 passes going into last week's game with Harding, where the rain discouraged passing and the Raiders stuck to the ground after getting an early lead.

Fred Pisanelli, 210, is an excellent defensive tackle and a fine punter. Jerry Naylor is another defensive tackle.

McNea notes that Frank Allen is a really tough fullback, especially on a short yardage situation. Allen has been hampered by an injury all season, and is not expected to start Saturday, but will be available if needed. Bob Davis, the regular fullback, is faster and has gained 236 yards in 53 carries. The halfbacks, Mark Williams and John Cooks, are fast. Williams was the leading rusher at Howland last season and transferred to Reserve. He has gained 298 yards, best on the squad in just 32 carries, for a 9.0 average. Clarence Mason, who has gained 213 yards, is sidelined with an injury.

Bill Fisher and Fred Benson will be the ends, Charles Diehl, 210 and Morgan Brogdon the tackles, Ted Teringo, 235 and Tom Boyd the guards and Bruce Sample, 200, the center.

McNea reports that the Potters have had good practices this week, but the open-field tackling has been less than sure. He is worried about the Raiders breaking into the open for long gains.

"I don't think I'll have any trouble getting the boys up for the game", says McNea in an understatement. The Potters want the game badly.

Palmer Advances In Golf Play

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP)—Arnold Palmer is knocking on the door of his third World Match Play Championship.

Palmer is a 2 to 1 favorite in this fifth annual tournament, the only one of its kind left in golf. Everything else is at medal play. First place is worth $12,000.

He beat Brian Huggett of Wales Thursday 2-up. Bob Charles of New Zealand defeated Bill Casper of San Diego 2-up also.

Gary Player of South Africa eliminated Peter Thomson of Australia 8 and 7 and Tony Jacklin of Britain beat U.S. Open Champion Lee Trevino of Dallas 4 and 3.

Palmer faced Charles and Player met Jacklin in today's 36-hole semifinals. The final is listed for Saturday over the same distance on the 6,997-yard par-74 Wentworth course.

The final was shaping up as a Palmer-Player battle, each two-time winners of the match play title and each very wealthy from golf.

Purdue, OSU In Top Game

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Purdue and Ohio State, the Big 2 of the Big Ten, collide in college football's No. 1 game Saturday.

Purdue, ranked first in the country and a strong choice in the conference, rates a two touchdown favorite, but expects plenty of trouble from the unbeaten and fourth-ranked Buckeyes.

Second-ranked Southern California has its hands full against host Stanford, No. 18, and sixth-rated Kansas travels to Lincoln, Neb., for a meeting with No. 9 Nebraska.

Penn State, No. 3, must face UCLA on the road and Tennessee No. 10, travels to Georgia Tech. Notre Dame, No. 1, and Florida, No. 7, are expected to have the easiest time as the Irish host Northwestern and the Gators entertain Tulane.

Eighth-ranked Louisiana State has a king size problem tonight of stopping Miami of Florida in Miami. In other games tonight, West Virginia plays VMI at Roanoke, Va., and Wyoming opposes Brigham Young in Provo, Utah.

Purdue, in the top number spotlight for the first time in many years, will rely as usual on Mike Phipps to do the passing, Bob Dillingham the catching and All-American Leroy Keyes to do both, along with plenty of running.

The Buckeyes have seen them all before, in a 41-6 pasting by Purdue last year, but Ohio State now has won six straight, including two this season, and obviously has been pointing for the Boilermakers.

"Ohio State has improved more than any team we have seen this year," Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf said, who hopes his players will be as revved up for the Buckeyes as they were against Notre Dame.

Ohio State, rearranging its offense from Woody Hayes' usual ground grinding, will present a diversified attack that includes passing. Sophomore Rex Kern does the throwing and halfback John Brockington and split end Bruce Jankowski the catching.

Southern Cal will turn O.J. Simpson loose at Stanford and he might have to be at his best against the high-scoring and unbeaten Indians, who have scored 120 points in three victories.

Kansas and Nebraska also are involved in a conference number game, each with 3-0 over-all records and among the top contenders for the Big Eight crown. It promises to be battle between Kansas' high-rolling offense with 51 points a game and Nebraska's second-ranked defense of eight points a contest.

Eastern powerhouse Penn State, oddly enough, is a slight underdog against unranked UCLA.

Rams Pick Over Packers; Browns Pick Over Cards

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The first real big game of the pro football season matches the Los Angeles Rams and the Green Bay Packers at Milwaukee Sunday.

The unbeaten Rams still remember that 28-7 beating they took last December in Milwaukee and the twice beaten Packers have not forgotten the one they lost in the Coliseum 27-24 on a blocked punt.

Baltimore, Dallas and New York, the other perfect record clubs in the NFL, are favored to march right along to a fifth straight win. Oakland, only unbeaten team in theAFL, is expected to make it five in a row.

Last week's record was 9-4, with 7-1 in the NFL and 2-3 in the AFL, or 28-11 for the year. Let's try again with all games Sunday unless otherwise indicated:

NFL

Los Angeles 24, Green Bay 21—Rams rolling in high gear with airtight defense while Packers at 2-2 have been giving up more points than usual. Toughest game of the day, perhaps toughest of season.

Baltimore 27, San Francisco 17—Earl Morrall doing excellent job as sub for John Unitas with 10 TD passes in four wins. Colts have beaten 49ers 12 straight times and don't figure to stop now.

Detroit 21, Chicago 17—After Bill Ford lowered the boom on the Lions following last week's loss in Minnesota they should come out hungry for Bear meat. Bears have quarterback trouble but Gale Sayers will make it closer than last time.

Minnesota 28, New Orleans 17—A tricky one. These clubs haven't met in regular season play. Bill Brown leading league with eight touchdowns but Viking quarterbacks Joe Kapp and Gary Cuozzo a little beat up. King Hill picked up as last-minute sub. Saints' Bill Kilmer had three interceptions last week.

Dallas 34, Philadelphia 14—Cowboys did it in Philadelphia two weeks ago and should repeat, although Eagles will be tougher with Norm Snead at controls. Loss of Dan Reeves a blow to Dallas.

New York 37, Atlanta 14—Norm Van Brocklin's Falcons won't be able to handle Fran Tarkenton's explosive offense.

Washington 34, Pittsburgh 21—Steelers are going to beat somebody soon but not the Skins with Sonny Jurgensen at the controls.

Cleveland 24, St. Louis 21—Give edge to Browns on Bill Nelson over Jim Hart or Charlie Johnson.

AFL

Miami 21, Buffalo 14 (Saturday night)—Dolphins coming off upset of Oilers. Bills still having trouble with attack, bowing to Chiefs 18-7.

New York 31, Denver 14—Joe Namath and Co. back on beam last week after poor showing against Buffalo. Return of Steve Tensi helps Broncos, who edged Cincinnati last week.

Kansas City 24, Cincinnati 14—Chiefs have too much for expansion club.

Boston 21, Houston 20—Patriots home after 41-10 bombing by Oakland, could get well against Houston which floundered last week without Pete Beathard.

Oakland 31, San Diego 20—Raiders need one more win to tie Chargers' 1960-61 record of 15 straight. Oakland averaging 40 points a game.

Aluminum-Shafted Clubs Popular

CHICAGO (AP) — Golfers, who avidly seek new aids for their game, now are turning to aluminum-shafted clubs.

"And they love them, said Mark Cox, president of the PGA and Burke-Worthington, a subsidiary of Victor Comptometer Corp.

"Aluminum shafts have caused the greatest flurry in the pro shops in the past few decades. Everyone seems to want them.

The shafts are ½ ounce lighter than the steel shafts that replaced hickory shafts. One-quarter ounce is added to the weight of the club head, so that the over-all club is ¼ ounce lighter than previous clubs.

Beavers, Lisbon Tie 8th Grade Game

Beaver Local and Lisbon tied an eighth grade football game at Lisbon yesterday 8-8.

Dave Mitcheson scored for the Beavers on a 95-yard punt return and Paul Jackson ran for the extra point. Tim Cain ran 17 yards for the Lisbon TD, and passed to Dave Clark for the conversion.

Westgate Loses

Westgate traveled to Canton McKinley yesterday and dropped a junior high football game 12-0.

Lady Golfers Hold Banquet At Crucible

Mrs. Carol Cunningham received the championship flight trophy when the Ladies Golf Division held its annual fall meeting and banquet at the Crucible Management Club in Industry, Wednesday.

Mrs. Jo Slater was runner-up.

Other trophies awarded by Mrs. May Kinney, chairman, were to Mrs. Piri Farkas and Mrs. Irene Steinacker, first flight; Mrs. Joanne Shaver and Mrs. Vivian Johns, second flight and Mrs. Marion Shonnaid and Mrs. Shirley Forsythe, third flight.

Team six, headed by Mrs. Slater, won the team competition. Others on the team were Mrs. Jean Patten, Mrs. Pat Bennett, Mrs. Kinney, Mrs. Alice Davis and Mrs. Shonnaid.

Potters Host Sixth-Ranked Warren Western Reserve

Hope To Avenge Lone '67 Defeat

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Warren Western Reserve, the sixth-ranked team in the state, will appear at Patterson Field Saturday night at 7:45 to face a determined band of Potters.

Last year, East Liverpool, unbeaten and ranked ninth in the state, traveled to Warren and suffered its lone loss of the season at the hands of the once-beaten Raiders, 22-0. Neither team lost another game all year and both ended in the Top 20.

This year the shoe is on the other foot, as the Potters want revenge for last season and also realize that a win over the Raiders would put East Liverpool back in the running for high state ranking.

"If we were at full strength I'd be very confident", says Potter coach Bob McNea, but he notes that without top defensive ends Jim Musuraca and Jerry Christian, the Potters may be vulnerable to sweeps, which is what Western Reserve does best. Jack Melvin and John Haney have played well filling in for Musuraca and Christian, but they can be beaten occasionally and the Potters can't afford any mistakes against the Raiders.

Stanley Ice, Floyd (Bub) Cranston and Don Cochran complete the defensive line, with Lou Volino and Denny Brennen at linebackers and Bob Pugh, Tom Chambers, John Johnson and Nelson (Sonny) Clark in the defensive backfield.

On offense, Johnson will be the split end and Melvin and Tom Gooding will share the tight end position. Cochran and Ice will be the tackles, but the center of the line is still unsettled. Brennen may shift back to center, with Volino and Pugh or Rick Shawke at the guard positions, or Jim (Moose) Jones may stay at center with Brennen at guard.

Chambers will start at fullback, with Musuraca and Herb Purton sidelined, and Clark and Steve (Travis) Williams will be the halfbacks and Dan Cunningham the quarterback.

The Raiders are only in their third year of football, but coach Dick Strahm has done an excellent job, with a 5-5 mark in 1966, 9-1 a year ago and 5-0 this season. The Raiders have rolled over Ashtabula 56-0, Akron South 38-0, Cuyahoga Falls 36-10, Austintown Fitch 36-0 and Warren Harding 14-6, outgaining their opponents 1,852-669 in the process.

Most of the Reserve players have started for three years, so there is excellent experience and cohesiveness on the team. Dave Zoba, the senior quarterback, had hit on 30 of 61 passes going into last week's game with Harding, where the rain discouraged passing and the Raiders stuck to the ground after getting an early lead.

Fred Pisanelli, 210, is an excellent defensive tackle and a fine punter. Jerry Naylor is another defensive tackle.

McNea notes that Frank Allen is a really tough fullback, especially on a short yardage situation. Allen has been hampered by an injury all season, and is not expected to start Saturday, but will be available if needed. Bob Davis, the regular fullback, is faster and has gained 236 yards in 53 carries. The halfbacks, Mark Williams and John Cooks, are fast. Williams was the leading rusher at Howland last season and transferred to Reserve. He has gained 298 yards, best on the squad in just 32 carries, for a 9.0 average. Clarence Mason, who has gained 213 yards, is sidelined with an injury.

Bill Fisher and Fred Benson will be the ends, Charles Diehl, 210 and Morgan Brogdon the tackles, Ted Teringo, 235 and Tom Boyd the guards and Bruce Sample, 200, the center.

McNea reports that the Potters have had good practices this week, but the open-field tackling has been less than sure. He is worried about the Raiders breaking into the open for long gains.

"I don't think I'll have any trouble getting the boys up for the game", says McNea in an understatement. The Potters want the game badly.

Palmer Advances In Golf Play

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP)—Arnold Palmer is knocking on the door of his third World Match Play Championship.

Palmer is a 2 to 1 favorite in this fifth annual tournament, the only one of its kind left in golf. Everything else is at medal play. First place is worth $12,000.

He beat Brian Huggett of Wales Thursday 2-up. Bob Charles of New Zealand defeated Bill Casper of San Diego 2-up also.

Gary Player of South Africa eliminated Peter Thomson of Australia 8 and 7 and Tony Jacklin of Britain beat U.S. Open Champion Lee Trevino of Dallas 4 and 3.

Palmer faced Charles and Player met Jacklin in today's 36-hole semifinals. The final is listed for Saturday over the same distance on the 6,997-yard par-74 Wentworth course.

The final was shaping up as a Palmer-Player battle, each two-time winners of the match play title and each very wealthy from golf.

Purdue, OSU In Top Game

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Purdue and Ohio State, the Big 2 of the Big Ten, collide in college football's No. 1 game Saturday.

Purdue, ranked first in the country and a strong choice in the conference, rates a two touchdown favorite, but expects plenty of trouble from the unbeaten and fourth-ranked Buckeyes.

Second-ranked Southern California has its hands full against host Stanford, No. 18, and sixth-rated Kansas travels to Lincoln, Neb., for a meeting with No. 9 Nebraska.

Penn State, No. 3, must face UCLA on the road and Tennessee No. 10, travels to Georgia Tech. Notre Dame, No. 1, and Florida, No. 7, are expected to have the easiest time as the Irish host Northwestern and the Gators entertain Tulane.

Eighth-ranked Louisiana State has a king size problem tonight of stopping Miami of Florida in Miami. In other games tonight, West Virginia plays VMI at Roanoke, Va., and Wyoming opposes Brigham Young in Provo, Utah.

Purdue, in the top number spotlight for the first time in many years, will rely as usual on Mike Phipps to do the passing, Bob Dillingham the catching and All-American Leroy Keyes to do both, along with plenty of running.

The Buckeyes have seen them all before, in a 41-6 pasting by Purdue last year, but Ohio State now has won six straight, including two this season, and obviously has been pointing for the Boilermakers.

"Ohio State has improved more than any team we have seen this year," Purdue Coach Jack Mollenkopf said, who hopes his players will be as revved up for the Buckeyes as they were against Notre Dame.

Ohio State, rearranging its offense from Woody Hayes' usual ground grinding, will present a diversified attack that includes passing. Sophomore Rex Kern does the throwing and halfback John Brockington and split end Bruce Jankowski the catching.

Southern Cal will turn O.J. Simpson loose at Stanford and he might have to be at his best against the high-scoring and unbeaten Indians, who have scored 120 points in three victories.

Kansas and Nebraska also are involved in a conference number game, each with 3-0 over-all records and among the top contenders for the Big Eight crown. It promises to be battle between Kansas' high-rolling offense with 51 points a game and Nebraska's second-ranked defense of eight points a contest.

Eastern powerhouse Penn State, oddly enough, is a slight underdog against unranked UCLA.

Brundage Re-Elected President

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Controversies, ranging from shoes to South Africa and from politics to professionals, continued to plague the troubled 19th Olympic Games on the even of the opening ceremonies.

The Supreme Council for Sports in Africa demanded that South Africa be barred from competition in all sports throughout the world and Avery Brundage, 81-year-old Chicago millionaire who has ruled the International Olympic Committee with an iron hand for 16 years, won re-election as president of the group.

Those were among the political developments as the sacred Olympic flame, which has been transported by a vast relay of swimmers and runners, neared the Mexican capital..

It was scheduled to reach the pyramids of Teotichuacan tonight, before its final 34-mile relay to the 80,000-seat Olympic Stadium, near the University of Mexico, site of last week's bloody rioting that left more than 50 dead.

For the first time ever a girl, Enriqueta Basilio Sotelo, will carry the flame on its last lap around the track, up the stadium steps and light the Olympic flame Saturday at the opening ceremonies.

And, for the first time ever, a woman will carry the flag and head the American delegation. She is Mrs. Janice York Romary, of Woodlog Hills, Calif., a fencer competing in her sixth Olympics.

The city remained calm, even light-hearted as the opening of the Games approached. The youth of Mexico welcomed the youth of the world with a gymnastics display in the main government square, Zocalo. Two helicopters hovered over the flower-bedecked square looking for trouble-makers. There were none.

But there were controversies.

John Claude Gaanga, secretary general for the Supreme Council for Sports in Africa, demanded that South Africa be barred from all competition all over the world and said:

"We have asked the IOC to take up this question with the international federation in all sports. We want inter-racial competition inside South Africa."

There was no immediate response from the IOC, but the Russians backed the move.

It was for its racial policies—and the threatened boycott of several black African nations—that South Africa was barred from these Games, just one of many problems that have plagued the 1968 Olympics.

"I came here 81 and now I feel 91," Brundage said after coping with the myriad problems that faced him and turning back the challenge of the Comte Jean de Beaumont for the presidency.

In matters more athletic, the United States, which is expected to battle Russia for the top collection of medals among the 124 nations competing, got a couple of shots in the arm.

Debbie Meyer, the Sacramento, Calif., swimming sensation who is expected to win three events, tossed away the crutches she had been using to support a slightly injured left ankle and announced she was fine. And giant Randy Matson, slump-ridden of late, got off a 70-2½ shot put.

An American shoe salesman complained he was arrested and held four days by Mexican officials.

Art Simburg of San Francisco, a U.S. representative of a shoe firm in Germany which makes track shoes with 68 small brushes on the soles, said the Mexican officials "told me I was being held for not having a work permit. But I am convinced it was because they don't want my company's shoes promoted."

He is trying to get 3,000 pairs of regular track shoes into the Olympic Village, but Mexico is holding them at the airport.

Simburg's firm contends that the Mexican government has given another company exclusive rights to sell shoes at the Olympic Village.

Gibson Absolves Flood Of Blame On Key Triple

By CHARLIE BAROUH
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — They opened the champagne quietly in the Cardinals' locker room. It took a few minutes for the scowls to leave their faces. Then there were smiles, but they looked like they took a lot of effort.

Bob Gibson was smiling when he walked into the room.

"I'm celebrating anyway," Gibson said between sips of champagne. "We had a good year. I'm happy to say nobody feels ashamed here. We got beat fair and square."

Gibson set all sorts of records during the Series—consecutive victories, strikeouts in a series, in a game, even home runs by a pitcher. But he was the losing pitcher as the Detroit Tigers took the seventh game 4-1 Thursday.

"I don't have any excuses," Gibson said. "The other guy just pitched a better game. I thought I pitched good enough to win under normal circumstances."

Circumstances stopped being normal in the seventh inning when Detroit's Jim Northrup hit a line drive to center field. Curt Flood broke in on the ball, stopped suddenly, slipped, and tried to catch up with the ball as it sailed over his head. Two runs scored and Gibson was on his way to the second World Series loss he has ever suffered."

"I wasn't worried about the ball when he hit it," Gibson said. "It wasn't his (Flood's) fault.

"Curt would say it was his fault. That's the kind of guy he is. Curt's a pro; he'll bounce back. Don't worry about him," Gibson said about his long-time roommate.

Flood simply said: "I fouled it up. That's all.

"I couldn't see it against the shirts. The reason I started in was I just didn't know where the ball was. A ball hit right at me gives me trouble in day games. If I hadn't slipped, I might have got it."

About the only thing that bridled Gibson was the suggestion that he had tired and lost his stuff as the game wore on.

"Just because they get some runs off of me doesn't mean I lost my stuff," Gibson snapped. "And I didn't get tired."

Manager Red Schoendienst supervised the opening of a bottle of champagne, then he turned his attention to the game.

"Win or lose, though, I still think Gibson was the best pitcher on the mound. They hit only one good ball off him till the seventh."

Lou Brock got into a discussion with Orlando Cepeda about Lolich and 31-game winner Denny McLain.

"Lolich—he's a guy who you have to credit, he has a lot of heart," Cepeda said. "He won the Series—him, himself, nobody else. Lolich would win 30 games in this league. McLain would be lucky to start every four days."

W. Virginia Favorite Over VMI

ROANOKE (AP) — West Virginia's air-minded football team begins a three-weekend encampment on Virginia soil here Friday night in a bout with VMI's Keydets in the 11th annual Harvest Bowl game.

The Mountaineers, led by sophomore passing sensation Mike Sherwood, carry a 2-1 record into the meeting with the winless Keydets and will be heavily favored to annex their third victory.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. in Victory Stadium.

After the Friday night encounter, West Virginia turns up at Richmond Oct. 19 to meet William and Mary in the Tobacco Festival game, and finishes its Virginia invasion at Virginia Tech on Oct. 26.

The Mountaineers have won all six games with VMI in a series that started in 1952 and in this 1968 renewal of the rivalry appear to have too much punch for coach Vito Ragazzo's Keydets.

"We've got to get tough for them," says Ragazzo. "It will be a big job, but I think we have the potential to match them. Our offense and defense should improve and give us the consistency and balance we need."

With halfback Bob Habasevich out for the season with an injury, VMI will depend heavily on the running of sophomore Tom Sowers and the passing of sophomore quarterbacks Bob Echols and Murphy Sprinkel.

It was Echols who lit the fuse to the Keydet offense—although too late — last week when Villanova whipped VMI 19-13. Both the VMI touchdowns came in the final quarter on drives engineered by Echols.

Only powerful Penn State has beaten coach Jim Carlen's Mountaineers, who have the look of the best West Virginia team in a decade.

Sherwood has completed 59 of 98 passes in WVU's three games to date for 894 yards and five touchdowns. Oscar Patrick, with 19 receptions, has been the Mountaineer quarterback's chief target.

Stopping Sherwood's throws is VMI's obvious No. 1 task, for the Mountaineers have rushed for only 221 yards. At the same time, WVU has been tough defensively, intercepting eight enemy passes.

Commissioners Authorize Work On Beaver Span

BEAVER — The Stewart Painting Co. of Pittsburgh was authorized by Beaver County commissioners Thursday to tack weld barriers across 12 openings on the East Rochester-Monaca toll bridge to eliminate some of the problems created by pigeons.

The firm also was given a contract to paint the exterior of the bridge administration building. The company has the contract for painting the bridge, which is 80 per cent complete.

In other action, Mrs. Ethel Dalzell of the Domestic Relations Division of Beaver County Court was granted permission to attend a conference on desertion and non - support Nov. 20-21 at Harrisburg.

Chairman James E. Ross, who is also airport chairman, will attend a planning conference Nov. 18-22 at the Federal Aviation Authority Academy in Oklahoma.

The commissioners accepted an invitation from the Free Discussion Group to participate in a forum at the Beaver Campus of Pennsylvania State University next Thursday.

Payment of $5,811 was approved for Michael Baker Jr., Inc., for inspection of repairs to the Ambridge Aliquippa bridge.

The Courthouse will be closed Saturday morning for Columbus Day.

Three Juveniles Held On Stolen Car Charge

Three juveniles are being held at the Allencrest Detention Home in Beaver today following their arrest Thursday while driving a stolen car.

They were apprehended by Pennsylvania state police from Chippewa on Route 515 in Chippewa Township.

A Beaver Falls man and a service station attendant assisted the officers. The youths were driving a car apparently stolen from the Darlington area.

Michael Scranton and Bruce Hines, attendant, became suspicious when the three drove into the station for gasoline. They thought the youths looked too young to be driving a car, authorities said, and detained them until police arrived.

Brundage Re-Elected President

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Controversies, ranging from shoes to South Africa and from politics to professionals, continued to plague the troubled 19th Olympic Games on the even of the opening ceremonies.

The Supreme Council for Sports in Africa demanded that South Africa be barred from competition in all sports throughout the world and Avery Brundage, 81-year-old Chicago millionaire who has ruled the International Olympic Committee with an iron hand for 16 years, won re-election as president of the group.

Those were among the political developments as the sacred Olympic flame, which has been transported by a vast relay of swimmers and runners, neared the Mexican capital..

It was scheduled to reach the pyramids of Teotichuacan tonight, before its final 34-mile relay to the 80,000-seat Olympic Stadium, near the University of Mexico, site of last week's bloody rioting that left more than 50 dead.

For the first time ever a girl, Enriqueta Basilio Sotelo, will carry the flame on its last lap around the track, up the stadium steps and light the Olympic flame Saturday at the opening ceremonies.

And, for the first time ever, a woman will carry the flag and head the American delegation. She is Mrs. Janice York Romary, of Woodlog Hills, Calif., a fencer competing in her sixth Olympics.

The city remained calm, even light-hearted as the opening of the Games approached. The youth of Mexico welcomed the youth of the world with a gymnastics display in the main government square, Zocalo. Two helicopters hovered over the flower-bedecked square looking for trouble-makers. There were none.

But there were controversies.

John Claude Gaanga, secretary general for the Supreme Council for Sports in Africa, demanded that South Africa be barred from all competition all over the world and said:

"We have asked the IOC to take up this question with the international federation in all sports. We want inter-racial competition inside South Africa."

There was no immediate response from the IOC, but the Russians backed the move.

It was for its racial policies—and the threatened boycott of several black African nations—that South Africa was barred from these Games, just one of many problems that have plagued the 1968 Olympics.

"I came here 81 and now I feel 91," Brundage said after coping with the myriad problems that faced him and turning back the challenge of the Comte Jean de Beaumont for the presidency.

In matters more athletic, the United States, which is expected to battle Russia for the top collection of medals among the 124 nations competing, got a couple of shots in the arm.

Debbie Meyer, the Sacramento, Calif., swimming sensation who is expected to win three events, tossed away the crutches she had been using to support a slightly injured left ankle and announced she was fine. And giant Randy Matson, slump-ridden of late, got off a 70-2½ shot put.

An American shoe salesman complained he was arrested and held four days by Mexican officials.

Art Simburg of San Francisco, a U.S. representative of a shoe firm in Germany which makes track shoes with 68 small brushes on the soles, said the Mexican officials "told me I was being held for not having a work permit. But I am convinced it was because they don't want my company's shoes promoted."

He is trying to get 3,000 pairs of regular track shoes into the Olympic Village, but Mexico is holding them at the airport.

Simburg's firm contends that the Mexican government has given another company exclusive rights to sell shoes at the Olympic Village.

Gibson Absolves Flood Of Blame On Key Triple

By CHARLIE BAROUH
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — They opened the champagne quietly in the Cardinals' locker room. It took a few minutes for the scowls to leave their faces. Then there were smiles, but they looked like they took a lot of effort.

Bob Gibson was smiling when he walked into the room.

"I'm celebrating anyway," Gibson said between sips of champagne. "We had a good year. I'm happy to say nobody feels ashamed here. We got beat fair and square."

Gibson set all sorts of records during the Series—consecutive victories, strikeouts in a series, in a game, even home runs by a pitcher. But he was the losing pitcher as the Detroit Tigers took the seventh game 4-1 Thursday.

"I don't have any excuses," Gibson said. "The other guy just pitched a better game. I thought I pitched good enough to win under normal circumstances."

Circumstances stopped being normal in the seventh inning when Detroit's Jim Northrup hit a line drive to center field. Curt Flood broke in on the ball, stopped suddenly, slipped, and tried to catch up with the ball as it sailed over his head. Two runs scored and Gibson was on his way to the second World Series loss he has ever suffered."

"I wasn't worried about the ball when he hit it," Gibson said. "It wasn't his (Flood's) fault.

"Curt would say it was his fault. That's the kind of guy he is. Curt's a pro; he'll bounce back. Don't worry about him," Gibson said about his long-time roommate.

Flood simply said: "I fouled it up. That's all.

"I couldn't see it against the shirts. The reason I started in was I just didn't know where the ball was. A ball hit right at me gives me trouble in day games. If I hadn't slipped, I might have got it."

About the only thing that bridled Gibson was the suggestion that he had tired and lost his stuff as the game wore on.

"Just because they get some runs off of me doesn't mean I lost my stuff," Gibson snapped. "And I didn't get tired."

Manager Red Schoendienst supervised the opening of a bottle of champagne, then he turned his attention to the game.

"Win or lose, though, I still think Gibson was the best pitcher on the mound. They hit only one good ball off him till the seventh."

Lou Brock got into a discussion with Orlando Cepeda about Lolich and 31-game winner Denny McLain.

"Lolich—he's a guy who you have to credit, he has a lot of heart," Cepeda said. "He won the Series—him, himself, nobody else. Lolich would win 30 games in this league. McLain would be lucky to start every four days."

W. Virginia Favorite Over VMI

ROANOKE (AP) — West Virginia's air-minded football team begins a three-weekend encampment on Virginia soil here Friday night in a bout with VMI's Keydets in the 11th annual Harvest Bowl game.

The Mountaineers, led by sophomore passing sensation Mike Sherwood, carry a 2-1 record into the meeting with the winless Keydets and will be heavily favored to annex their third victory.

Kickoff time is 8 p.m. in Victory Stadium.

After the Friday night encounter, West Virginia turns up at Richmond Oct. 19 to meet William and Mary in the Tobacco Festival game, and finishes its Virginia invasion at Virginia Tech on Oct. 26.

The Mountaineers have won all six games with VMI in a series that started in 1952 and in this 1968 renewal of the rivalry appear to have too much punch for coach Vito Ragazzo's Keydets.

"We've got to get tough for them," says Ragazzo. "It will be a big job, but I think we have the potential to match them. Our offense and defense should improve and give us the consistency and balance we need."

With halfback Bob Habasevich out for the season with an injury, VMI will depend heavily on the running of sophomore Tom Sowers and the passing of sophomore quarterbacks Bob Echols and Murphy Sprinkel.

It was Echols who lit the fuse to the Keydet offense—although too late — last week when Villanova whipped VMI 19-13. Both the VMI touchdowns came in the final quarter on drives engineered by Echols.

Only powerful Penn State has beaten coach Jim Carlen's Mountaineers, who have the look of the best West Virginia team in a decade.

Sherwood has completed 59 of 98 passes in WVU's three games to date for 894 yards and five touchdowns. Oscar Patrick, with 19 receptions, has been the Mountaineer quarterback's chief target.

Stopping Sherwood's throws is VMI's obvious No. 1 task, for the Mountaineers have rushed for only 221 yards. At the same time, WVU has been tough defensively, intercepting eight enemy passes.

Commissioners Authorize Work On Beaver Span

BEAVER — The Stewart Painting Co. of Pittsburgh was authorized by Beaver County commissioners Thursday to tack weld barriers across 12 openings on the East Rochester-Monaca toll bridge to eliminate some of the problems created by pigeons.

The firm also was given a contract to paint the exterior of the bridge administration building. The company has the contract for painting the bridge, which is 80 per cent complete.

In other action, Mrs. Ethel Dalzell of the Domestic Relations Division of Beaver County Court was granted permission to attend a conference on desertion and non - support Nov. 20-21 at Harrisburg.

Chairman James E. Ross, who is also airport chairman, will attend a planning conference Nov. 18-22 at the Federal Aviation Authority Academy in Oklahoma.

The commissioners accepted an invitation from the Free Discussion Group to participate in a forum at the Beaver Campus of Pennsylvania State University next Thursday.

Payment of $5,811 was approved for Michael Baker Jr., Inc., for inspection of repairs to the Ambridge Aliquippa bridge.

The Courthouse will be closed Saturday morning for Columbus Day.

Three Juveniles Held On Stolen Car Charge

Three juveniles are being held at the Allencrest Detention Home in Beaver today following their arrest Thursday while driving a stolen car.

They were apprehended by Pennsylvania state police from Chippewa on Route 515 in Chippewa Township.

A Beaver Falls man and a service station attendant assisted the officers. The youths were driving a car apparently stolen from the Darlington area.

Michael Scranton and Bruce Hines, attendant, became suspicious when the three drove into the station for gasoline. They thought the youths looked too young to be driving a car, authorities said, and detained them until police arrived.

Junior Editors Quiz on NEAT'S FOOT OIL

QUESTION: What does the "neat" mean in neat's foot oil?

* * *

ANSWER: The name suggests that there must be something called a neat from whose feet oil is made. Yet it seems a strange use for the familiar word neat — we wonder whether the word might refer to that small salamander, the newt. But this is not the answer. The word neat, as used in neat's foot oil, has a different meaning from the word used to suggest something tidy and attractive. It comes from the old Anglo-Saxon word neat, which refers to the large farm animals which are of the cattle or ox kind, rather than horses, goats or sheep. By boiling the skin and foot bones of such cattle, one may extract a pale, yellow oil. This is neat's foot oil. One important use of this oil is in making leather. The hair of the hide is first removed, then the flesh is scraped off the inside of the skin. Next the hides are treated with chemicals which tans them, or turns them into leather. After squeezing out the chemicals, oils are applied, and this is where neat's foot oil comes in, especially in high-grade leathers. This smooth, fine oil is also used for lubricating delicate machinery.

(Barbara McEndorfer of Townsend, Mass., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
